KEYS

Only One ever Is.

Oneness is One indivisible Whole that is inconceivable and beyond words.

The One alone ever Is Here and Now.

One / Oneness = Absolute / Reality / Self / I AM / Beloved / Heart / Silence / Truth

One / Oneness = Power / Existence Awareness Bliss / Grace / Maya

Existence = Being / Presence

Awareness = Consciousness / Seer / Witness / Light / Intelligence / Knowing / Knowledge

Bliss = Peace / Love / Freedom / Perfection / Beauty

Oneness is the stateless State of the One, and not a union or unity.

Numeral one (1) is single and undivided and only divisible by itself.

One is whole. One is nondual (not two). One is the source and origin and root. One is primacy. One is independent. One is the first and preeminent numeral unit that is nonzero. One is the identity for multiplication. One is empty, when multiplied. One is the basis for all, yet transcendent. One is the Alpha and the Omega. One is absolute.

Oneness Truth—the eternal One Reality that is the infinite Self—is transcendent of the ego mind and alone direct Experience in absolute Silence.

Like the musk deer that carries the musk fragrance within itself but not knowing this, searches for it far and wide, we are That which we ultimately desire and search for. We are the One Source and the Bliss Peace Love Freedom we long for: to experience this Truth simply Be Here Now in Silence transcendent of the mind.

The Truth only the eternal One infinite is real and all else is illusion can never be grasped or comprehended for the simple reason that Reality is transcendent of the mind. It is only when the mind is still and silent or finally annihilated that illusion vanishes and Reality Shines, unveiled. Words at most can only be pointers, for Truth alone is in Silence.

Reality

The One ever Is Absolute

Reality

indivisible

Whole—

all else is but an illusion

unreal.

The One Reality is Oneness that Knows only Oneness—the One and Only is absolute Oneness Existence in the eternal Here and Now of limitless Silence.

One absolute Existence ever Is, while everything and all that seems to be or exist is an illusory appearance and a zero and nothing. All things are an illusion and have no existence except in illusion that has no real existence. All things are a mirage that vanishes into the nothing and no thing that it is—perception of water in a mirage is a hallucination that is illusory experience and but a trick of illusion. Everything is illusory like a fleeting dream dreamt by a phantom dreamer—everything is a zero and nothing. Illusion is ever nonexistence, while Reality is ever Oneness Existence Here in the eternal Now.

Maya—the Power and Manifestation of the One—is the Master Illusionist that creates illusion and makes illusion seem real via the illusory mind. Maya and the mind are coexistent and appear and disappear as one in Oneness Reality.

The conceived ego-I and body world cosmos are all in the mind as thought, and the illusory mind and its creations and projections—the body world cosmos—are all illusion, like a dream or magic trick that seems real.

Life and living are experience and all experience is conceptual. The mind is a continuous stream of thought in the continuum of Consciousness, where everything is an object to a subject-I, where differentiation creates and validates personal identity, where separation is a fundamental condition of life that in turn creates and perpetuates desire and fear. Life and living and experience are ever changing and ever contracted in a shroud of separation and limitation.

Everything that seems to be or exist is an object and all objects are finite limited and changing, while Consciousness is formless limitless and unchanging Oneness. All objects are illusory mental creations and projections based on the subject-object dichotomy of I-me-mine and the other, while the One Reality Shines as Self Aware Existence—absolute Consciousness. Consciousness is our unchanging One Self, and all that appears and disappears, all that changes, is a fleeting impression—an illusory superimposition.

The One is the transcendent Unknown and thus incomprehensible, so some say that the One is a mystery, but this is wrong as the One is our very Self, to be Realized as absolute Oneness Experience transcendent of the ego body mind world cosmos and all ignorance and illusion.

The One Absolute

The One Absolute

all else is but an illusion

The formless Nameless One is ever transcendent of the ego mind, ever the inconceivable Unknown.

Formless Oneness is limitless, without a beginning or end.

Formless Oneness is our eternal Nature and real Identity.

Formless Oneness has no source—It is the Source.

The One is Existence Awareness Bliss. There is no Awareness without Existence and no Existence without Awareness—Existence and Awareness are One. That which ever Is is Bliss. Existence Awareness Bliss is the One Absolute that is the Reality and Self. Existence Awareness Bliss is the Source Substratum Substance of everything and all that seems to be or exist. The One is the Omnipotent Omniscient Omnipresent Screen of Consciousness onto which the illusory ego mind and infinitude are projected and a superimposition. Consciousness is the limitless One Light of Intelligence. Consciousness is absolute Power. Consciousness ever Is Here in the eternal Now of absolute Silence.

Consciousness is formless immutable and indivisible Oneness.

Consciousness is Self-existent Self-evident Self-luminous Oneness Perfection.

Consciousness is the continuum in which everything and all that seems to be or exist appears and disappears.

Consciousness without an object is absolute Consciousness.

Consciousness is Oneness Silence transcendent of the ego body mind world cosmos.

Consciousness is immutable and indivisible and has no grades levels or planes, nor are there various sorts of Consciousness—such alone are illusory creations of the ego mind projected onto Consciousness. The ego mind based on dual subject-object relativity is the Veil of illusion and a superimposition on Consciousness.

Consciousness is our eternal Nature and real Identity.

Consciousness has no source—It is the Source.

The One is Light. The One is the Light of all lights. The One is the absolute Light of Intelligence. The Omnipotent Omniscient Omnipresent One Light is the infinite Eye of the eternal One I that is the Witness Seer and Self. The One Light of Awareness is the Source Substratum Substance of everything and all that seems to be or exist. The One Light ever Is Here in the eternal Now of absolute Silence.

Light is our eternal Nature and real Identity.

Light has no source—It is the Source.

The One is Knowledge. The limitless One is Oneness Knowledge that is eternal. The One is luminous Self Knowing Knowledge that is absolute. The infinite Eye of the eternal One I is All Seeing All Knowing. Oneness Experience is absolute Knowledge. Oneness Knowledge ever Is Here in the eternal Now of absolute Silence.

Oneness Knowledge is formless unchanging and transcendent.

Knowledge of Oneness alone is real.

Knowledge that is nonconceptual alone is real.

We are Knowing that is the underlying One Reality of experience and that which makes everything and all that seems to be or exist evident and possible.

What is known is experience that in turn becomes knowledge, but when the ego mind is still and silent and all illusion dissolved Knowing alone Shines.

Knowledge is our eternal Nature and real Identity.

Knowledge has no source—It is the Source.

The One is Silence. Silence is the One Absolute. Silence is the Heart of the One. Silence is the soundless Sound of Oneness. The One Power is absolute Existence Awareness Bliss—the One Reality that is the Self and the One Source Substratum Substance of everything and all that seems to be or exist. Existence Awareness Bliss is infinite and eternal.

The One *Power is __Maya__—the Power of illusion and the play of ignorance in illusion. Maya is the Almighty Creator of the infinitude that is the Dream of Maya and the Veil of illusion and Shadow of the One.

The One Power is Grace—the Power of Oneness Truth and Perfection. Grace is the Awakener and Liberator in Maya's Dream.

Grace and Maya are the Manifestation and Power of the One.

The One Power is unlike the endless energy of the cosmos and world—the One Power is formless limitless immutable non-vibratory and absolute, while energy takes various forms that are finite mutable vibratory and transient. The One Power is limitless and unconditioned, while energy although endless takes various forms that are limited and conditioned. The One Power is the Source Substratum Substance of the infinitude, while energy takes various forms as the endless infinitude that is but an illusion and a zero and nothing. Energy is an obscure reflection of the One Power.*

Maya is a Sanskrit word that literally means illusion and magic. Maya has multiple meanings, such as: an extraordinary power; a miraculous force; a magic show or trick; an appearance that is constantly changing and thus unreal; an imaginary creation or trick or deception.*

Maya—the Power of the One—is infinite. Maya is the Almighty Creator of all illusion. Maya is the principle of ignorance that makes illusion and the false seem real and true.

Maya is the origin of the ego mind that is but an illusion. Maya and the ego mind are coordinate and conjunct as one—when Maya appears, the ego mind also appears and when the ego mind disappears, Maya disappears along with it. Maya and the ego mind rise and fall as one.

Maya mind is the creator and projector of the illusory infinitude—an endless vibrating interconnected intermixed multiplicity endlessly multiplying itself in endless variation to Infinity. The Infinitude is everything and all that seems to be or exist.

Maya mind and the infinitude are the Veil of illusion and Shadow of the One.

When absorbed and lost in the ego mind, we are the Veil of illusion and Shadow of the One.

The infinitude is fundamentally unified and superficially diversified as one interconnected intermixed totality with everything relative to the point of being canceled and a zero.

The Imagination of Maya is limitless and what we experience of the infinitude is infinitesimal.

Everything and all that seems to be or exist happens as one interconnected intermixed totality by the One Power and Will of Maya.

Everything happens and is programmed and predetermined by the One Power and Will of Maya.

There is no volition, no real option or choice, no real individual personal power or will in existence. No particle leaf or hand moves no thought desire or action happens apart from the One Power and Will of Maya.

Everything and all that seems to be or exist is Maya's illusory Creation and Dream projected by the illusory mind onto Consciousness—the One Reality and Self—and is but a zero and nothing.

Power is our eternal Nature and real Identity.

Power has no source—It is the Source.

The timeless Now of Presence is undivided Oneness.

The Bliss of Oneness Presence ever Is Here Now.

When we are Present the ego mind vanishes, and Experience is absolute.

There is no individual no person in Presence.

The ego mind is the illusory past looking toward the elusive future and ever reactionary in the fleeting present.

The ego and its compelling story and compulsive ways vanish in the timeless Now of Presence.

Absorbed and lost in the illusory world of the mind we dream the dream of duality and separation.

When we are Present the mental trance we live in dissolves.

When we are Present the I-thought drops and all conceptualizing along with it.

Relax. Be Present. Merely Be and purely See.

Relax. Breathing eases and refines and slows and becomes full and even. The heart's beat slows and is even and strong. Presence may be for an instant or longer, but the habitual ego mind will automatically rise and take hold. See this and fully relax and be Present, returning to the Here and Now. And continue in this way until the ego mind completely vanishes and one is permanently established in absolute Freedom. The annihilation of the ego mind is Liberation from all ignorance and illusion.

Reality Experience and Self Realization and Liberation are not in our hands and alone by the Grace of the One.

Do not listen to the mind. Ignore the ego I-thought. When a thought takes hold, drop it.

Just Be. Be as you Are. Abide in/as the One Self. Never upset the mind with yes or no. Be still. Merely Be and purely See, thought-free and boundless. Stop the mind from spinning its web of illusion by fully relaxing and dissolving in the Here and Now of absolute Silence.

Being is egoless and purposeless.

There is no individual or becoming in absolute Being that is pure Presence.

Being is Self-existent Self-evident Self-luminous Oneness.

Everything that seems to be or exist is an illusory superimposition on Being.

Everything that seems to be or exist appears and disappears in the continuum of Being.

Being is the stillness of Silence.

Being is not cognition or sensation or action.

Being is Self Aware Bliss.

Being is ever Here Now as Presence.

Being Awareness Bliss is the infinite eternal One I.

When the false ego-I dissolves in Presence the real I Shines, unveiled.

Being Awareness Bliss is Reality Experience that is Self Knowledge.

Mere Being is Reality Experience, while becoming is an imaginary journey in illusion.

Being Awareness Bliss is transcendent Oneness Perfection.

Other than Being Awareness Bliss nothing exists.

Peace

The Silence

mere Being is Perfect Peace.

There is nothing to accept and nothing to reject—everything is an illusion and a zero and nothing. Be Free, knowing everything to be nothing.

There is nothing to attain—Oneness Perfection is already our eternal Nature and real Identity. Free of the ego mind, effortlessly abide as That Here Now.

There is nothing to do or be—we are already effortlessly transcendent Perfection. It alone is ignorance that binds and keeps us in illusion, so merely Be, transcendent and Free.

In Reality there is nothing to do or be, while in illusion there is everything to do and be.

We are the One Unborn ever transcendent of the ego body mind world cosmos. All seeking all striving all desire and fear veil and bypass Oneness Reality that ever Is Here and Now.

The ego resists egoless Presence—the ego ever hungry for justification and victory resists the egoless thought-free Here and Now. But upon reaching a point of deep insight by the Grace of the One, belief and faith in the ego-I falters and we turn from the darkness of ignorance in illusion to the Light of the One Reality and Self.

There is the illusory time of a watch and movement of the earth and sun, but it is something transient and not overbearing and we no longer live in the past or for the future. As nothing happens in the timeless Here and Now there is nothing to attach to or resist and we realize that things happen only in the illusory world of the ego mind and events and experiences are a mind creation and projection maintained by belief and faith. And foremost we realize that in the Here and Now of Reality absolute Oneness Perfection Reigns.

Thought cannot be found when directly searched for.

When we look for thought the Emptiness and Silence of absolute Consciousness alone is to be found. Thought and thinking automatically cease when we are Present and Aware. Consciousness is ever the underlying Reality of thought.

To stop thought search for it to find it absent. Thought and the mind dissolve in the Here and Now of Presence that is absolute Awareness Consciousness.

Observe how thought just happens, how there is a continuous stream of thought except in the Light of Awareness that is Presence. Awareness never appears and disappears like thought, and when attention is withdrawn from thought, Awareness Consciousness fully Shines.

Thought is transient and essentially nonexistent. Thought springs from Emptiness, ever evaporating into Emptiness, while Consciousness ever Is. When we ignore thought it cannot take hold and when we abide in Awareness Presence, where is thought?

When thought rises we need not attend to it we need never cultivate thought and if we are able to master and transcend thought this power is given to us by Grace.

The mind is a stream of thought and a mere mental construct and memory that is an illusory superimposition on Consciousness, while Consciousness alone ever Is unchanging and absolute.

Wake from the trance of thought—ever abide in the limitless Silence of Consciousness Here Now.

Silence is the One Absolute.

Silence ever Reigns in the eternal Here and Now of Oneness.

Silence is the Heart and Revelation and Signature of the One Reality.

Silence is the prerequisite for Reality Experience / Self Realization / Liberation.

Egoless we are in our natural state of Silence.

Silence is the One Reality transcendent of the ego mind.

Reality alone is Experienced in Silence and conveyed by Silence.

Only that which is given and received in Silence is real.

The conceptual noise of the ego mind veils the Truth of Silence.

Abidance in Silence is real worship devotion and love for the One.

Thinking about That which is beyond words and conception is but a detour and distraction in illusion that postpones Reality Experience in Silence.

Silence is Oneness Truth that is absolute Knowledge.

Truth alone is in Silence—Knowledge alone is in Silence.

Oneness Silence alone is the true answer to every existential question and quandary.

Silence is the eternal Nature of the One.

It is essential to realize that Silence is the eternal Nature of the One Reality and Self.

It is essential to realize that abidance in Oneness Silence is Reality Experience that is Self Knowledge.

It is essential to realize that Silence is the underlying One Reality of everything and all that seems to be or exist that is but an illusory superimposition.

It is essential to realize that Silence is the formless limitless immutable continuum in which everything and all that seems to be or exist appears and disappears.

Many love the quiet of nature and the stillness of a night under the stars and the silence of a sacred place and so on, but the Silence of Oneness can never ever be conceived or found in vast spacetime or beyond—the Silence of Oneness is ever transcendent of the ego body mind world cosmos.

Silence will ever be a mystery to the ego mind yet is ever Here and Now as the One Self.

Silence of Presence.

Absolute I AM ever Is.

Our one direct Experience in life is our immediate sense of Existence and Awareness of Being—the absolute Knowing I exist, I AM. This Knowing Awareness is Self-existent Self-evident Self-luminous and thus an absolute certainty. The absolute I AM is an ever-present constant in life and a deep undercurrent in all experience.

All absolute Experience is direct nonconceptual pure and nondual.

Along with the pure core-experience I AM is the primal I-thought—the original and root thought from which all other thoughts spring. There is a continuous stream of thought and an absorption in the ego I-thought that distracts us from merely just Being and in ignorance we misidentify the I with the ego body mind—as I am the body and I am this and I am that—thus overlooking the pure absolute nonconceptual I AM.

The infinite eternal One alone is I and what the One Is, I AM.

The One is absolute I AM—the One Self and Reality.

I AM ever Here in the eternal Now of Oneness Silence.

I AM ever Here in the eternal Now of Oneness Perfection.

I AM ever absolute Being Awareness Bliss.

I AM ever Self-existent Self-evident Self-luminous Oneness.

I alone AM.

The eternal One infinite Reality is both Emptiness and Fullness.

The One is Empty (no thing / no mind) and Full (Oneness).

From the One springs the illusory infinitude—an endless vibrating interconnected intermixed multiplicity endlessly multiplying itself in endless variation to Infinity—that is but a zero and nothing

From the One springs a zero.

Oneness alone ever Is—all else is but an illusion and a zero and nothing.

The limitless One is the Source Substratum Substance of the infinitude, while the infinitude is an illusory superimposition and but a zero and nothing.

The infinitude is one interconnected intermixed totality with everything absolutely relative to the point of being canceled and a zero.

The infinitude is the Veil of illusion and Shadow of the One and but a zero and nothing.

All illusion and all shadows are a zero and nothing.

For the Liberated who are embodied the Veil of illusion is permanently dissolved but the Shadow remains. For the Liberated who are not embodied the Veil of illusion is permanently dissolved and also the Shadow.

The infinitude is mere foam on the boundless Ocean of Being that is Oneness Existence.

All forms and beings are finite contractions in the formless One Being.

The One is the boundless Ocean of Being in which everything and all that seems to be or exist are mere bubbles and waves that appear and disappear. The Ocean of Being is ever One and indivisible and its depths ever unmoving and unchanging.

As waves rise from the ocean and fall back and dissolve in it, so the infinitude emanates from the limitless One Being and dissolves back into It.

From the limitless One Being an endless illusory multiplicity and diversity of finite forms and beings spring, like the one light of the sun passing through a prism and becoming separate and dispersed as rays.

Finite forms and beings are ever changing and generating more finite forms and beings, ad infinitum.

Limitless Being is the One Self and Reality.

Being is formless Self-existent Self-evident Self-luminous Oneness.

Being is not an action nor is it dependent on action, nor is it thought or an abeyance of thought, nor is it sensory perception and experience. Being is not dependent on the body or mind—indeed without Being there is no body or mind or life.

Being is formless limitless immutable indivisible Oneness transcendent of the ego body mind world cosmos.

There is no Being without Awareness and no Awareness without Being—Being and Awareness are One and indivisible. That which ever Is is Bliss and absolute.

Self Realization is the dissolution of the human being the absolute Shining of Being.

I AM is the absolute Power and Manifestation of the One.

I AM is the primary and fundamental principle of Manifestation.

I AM is absolute Reality Experience that is Self Knowledge.

I AM is the eternal Jewel of the One Reality and Self.

I AM is limitless Omnipresence.

The eternal One infinite alone is I and what the One Is, I AM.

I AM the One Reality and Self.

Absolute I AM is our real Identity.

The One Self is absolute I AM transcendent of the ego body mind.

Absolute I AM springs from the infinite eternal One I that is the Self and Reality—I AM is Reality Experience that is Self Knowledge.

Absolute I AM is nonconceptual pure and nondual.

I am the body and I am the mind are false mental assumptions and illusory superimpositions on I AM. The I-thought is the finite transient ego-I that is but a mental construct and an illusion and a zero and nothing.

The ego I-thought is based on dual subject-object relativity that springs from identification with the body.

Absolute I AM is limited and distorted by identification with the ego body mind.

The false assumption I am this and I am that springing from ignorance creates and projects all illusion.

The ego I-me-mine and I-you-it is a powerful mind creation and projection sustained by memory and propelled by mental impressions and inclinations.

I AM is Oneness Perfection while the ego body mind is the Veil of illusion and the Shadow of the One.

Bliss is the One Self. There is no moment when the Self is not. Be free of the ego mind and so abide as the absolute Bliss that is the One Reality and Self.

Oneness is limitless Bliss.

Bliss is the underlying One Reality of everything and all that seems to be or exist.

Mere Being is Bliss.

Our innate Bliss is projected onto and associated with objects and the attainment of our desires. The happiness and peace we experience once a desired object or objective is obtained is our own inherent Bliss and Peace and with that there is a sense of fulfillment and completion. When the tension of desire is relieved upon attainment we feel happy and at peace for a time, but there are always more desires that keep us from feeling complete and we have made the false assumption that happiness and peace are external to us, which keeps us trapped in ignorance and illusion, missing the truth that we in reality are the happiness and peace we desire and seek. No matter what the desired object or objective is it represents that which will make us complete and happy. It is permanent happiness and peace that we long for and seek, not realizing that Bliss and Peace are our natural state and eternal Nature and Self in limitless abundance. Only abidance in/as the One Self that is Oneness Perfection is permanent Freedom from desire and the sense of incompleteness. We are limitless Bliss Peace Love Freedom—we are That which we ultimately desire.

Abidance in/as Oneness is absolute Bliss.

Now is Peace. Peace is the stillness of absolute Silence. There is no Peace in the movement of thought. When thought is absent there is perfect Peace. Peace is our eternal Nature. It is the ego mind that disturbs and obstructs our natural state of Peace. Peace is the One Self. There is no moment when the Self is not. Be free of the ego mind and so abide as the absolute Peace that is the One Reality and Self.

Peace is the Heart of Silence.

The Perfect Peace of Silence is ever transcendent of the ego mind.

When the ego mind is annihilated Peace Reigns.

Mere Being is limitless Peace.

Liberation is eternal Peace.

Abidance in/as Oneness is absolute Peace.

Now is Love. Love is Oneness. Love is the Form of the formless One. Love shines on all like the sun. Love is our eternal Nature. It is the ego mind that disturbs and obstructs our natural state of Love. Love is the One Self. There is no moment when the Self is not. Be free of the ego mind and so abide as the absolute Love that is the One Reality and Self.

Love is the underlying One Reality and essential basis of Creation.

Love is unparalleled Power and the foremost healer and transformer.

Love is limitless and selfless.

Love is Oneness and like the light of the sun that shines on all.

Love is Naked and Free like the perfume of a flower in the wind.

Love gives and does not ask.

Love springs spontaneously and unfettered from within—Love is our eternal Nature.

Love is unalloyed Beauty and Bliss.

The One Beloved is absolute Love that quickens pure love in the devotee.

The One Beloved listens only to the Music of the Heart—Love.

The Beloved and Lover are ever One in absolute Love Bliss.

Absolute Love is Oneness ever transcendent of the ego mind.

Abidance in/as Oneness is absolute Love.

Now is Freedom. Freedom is transcendent Oneness. Freedom is formless and nameless. Freedom is our eternal Nature. It is the ego mind that disturbs and obstructs our natural state of Freedom. Freedom is the One Self. There is no moment when the Self is not. Be free of the ego mind and so abide as the absolute Freedom that is the One Reality and Self.

Wherever one is, one is Free—Freedom is ever Here and Now.

Prior to and beyond the ego mind one is Free.

Desireless one is Free of the I-me-mine and fever of the world.

Freedom is never attained—Freedom is Realized as our immortal One Self.

Freedom is Liberation from the ego body mind world cosmos.

Freedom is absolute independence as limitless Oneness.

Abidance in/as Oneness is absolute Freedom.

Now is Oneness. Oneness is indivisible and ever unchanging, while the ego mind is divided and ever changing. Oneness is our eternal Nature. It is the ego mind that disturbs and obstructs our natural state of Oneness. Oneness is the One Self. There is no moment when the Self is not. Be free of the ego mind and so abide as Oneness that is the Reality and Self.

Absolute surrender to Oneness is Reality Experience that is Self Knowledge and Liberation from all ignorance and illusion.

Abidance in/as Oneness is absolute Perfection.

One absolute Power alone ever Is.

The One Power is limitless immutable invincible indivisible Oneness.

The One Power is Self-existent Self-evident Self-luminous Oneness Perfection.

Oneness Knows only Oneness.

The realization that there is only One Power affords the perfect perspective. This realization coordinate with total trust in the One brings one to surrender and abide in/as Oneness Perfection.

The One Power is the One Source Substratum Substance of everything and all that seems to be or exist.

The One Power makes everything and all that seems to be or exist evident and possible and is the underlying One Reality.

The One Power is Existence Awareness Bliss—the transcendent One Reality and Self.

Existence Awareness Bliss is the One Absolute.

The One Power is Maya that is the Manifestation of the One.

Maya is the Almighty Creator of the infinitude that is the Veil of illusion and the Shadow of the One. Maya creates and projects all illusion and makes it seem real—Maya is the play of ignorance in illusion.

The One Power is Grace that is the Manifestation of the One.

Grace is the Power and play of Oneness Truth and Perfection in Maya—Grace Awakens and Liberates all from Maya's Dream of illusion.

Maya and Grace are unfathomable Manifestations of the One Power.

Grace—the Power of Oneness Truth and Perfection—and Maya—the Power of illusion—are coexistent and intertwined as the Manifestation of the One.

The Manifestation of the One is the Supreme Drama that is the powerful play of Maya and Grace, with Grace ever surpassing Maya as the One underlying and preeminent Reality.

Grace is Oneness Truth and Perfection, while Maya's infinitude is the Veil of illusion and the Shadow of the One that is but an illusory superimposition and a zero and nothing.

Grace is the One Light of Truth, while Maya is the darkness of ignorance in illusion.

Grace and Maya are the play of Light and darkness.

Grace ever Is, while Maya appears and disappears along with the illusory mind and infinitude.

The infinitude is Maya's limitless Imagination.

The infinitude is Maya's Dream.

The infinitude is everything and all that seems to be or exist.

The infinitude is the illusory creation and projection of Maya mind.

The infinitude and Maya and the mind are the Veil of illusion and Shadow of the One.

The infinitude is a mirage, and all experience an illusion.

The infinitude springs from a zero-dimension point that is infinitesimally finite and expands endlessly as illusion.

The infinitude is an endless vibrating interconnected intermixed totality endlessly multiplying itself in endless variation to Infinity.

The infinitude is fundamentally unified and superficially diversified and is one interconnected totality with everything absolutely relative to the point of being canceled and a zero.

The infinitude is an illusory creation and projection of Maya mind and a zero in Oneness Consciousness.

The infinitude is one interconnected intermixed totality that is an obscure reflection of Oneness in the Mirror of Consciousness.

The infinitude is endless illusory experiences—the infinitude is an illusion and a zero and nothing.

The infinitude and Maya mind are coordinate and conjunct as one and appear and disappear as one.

The infinitude is in Maya mind, and both are in Consciousness.

The infinitude is an illusory superimposition on Consciousness—the One Reality that is the Self.

The infinitude is the Grand Illusion created and projected by Maya mind onto Consciousness.

The mind is the ultimate miracle because it is from the mind that the infinitude springs and is projected and externalized as perception and experience.

The infinitude is one interconnected intermixed totality comprised of endless particles atoms molecules forms worlds stars galaxies universes and so on—the infinitude is everything and all that seems to be or exist.

The infinitude has endless properties attributes conditions and limits.

The infinitude is mere foam on the boundless Ocean of Being.

Mental impressions and inclinations keep the Wheel of Karma spinning.

Karma is action and reaction.

Mental impressions and inclinations create and sustain the illusory world of the mind.

Some things make an impression that leaves an imprint on the mind. These impressions become inclinations in the form of desires fears attachments preferences habits actions reactions and so on that form a unique personal individuality and life.

Impressions are countless and are either active or dormant.

Inclinations are predispositions that become automatic reflexes that in turn become patterns.

Impressions and inclinations seek manifestation and are the fuel that drives us and our life in the world.

Impressions and inclinations keep the ego mind active and conditioned and are good neutral or bad—the good being selfless and auspicious and the bad being selfish and inauspicious.

The mind is the creator and projector of vicious circles and cycles that are like spinning wheels, and so long as the ego assumes itself as the agent of experience—as the doer and owner—it is entrenched in the cycle of karma, ever spinning its wheels in ignorance and illusion.

Spin is fundamentally at the foundation of why everything is the way it is and works. That which holds all things together also drives them into motion and this fundamental spin to things allows energy to move freely throughout all forms and in all systems in the cosmos. The fundamental force of momentum forces things to spin—the force of spin is embedded in all things.

Our actions and reactions spurred by impressions and inclinations keep us spinning on the Wheel of Karma.

The egocentric under the spell of ignorance and illusion are like a dry leaf whirled round and round and all about by the wind of impressions and inclinations.

Stop the ego mind spinning its web of illusion by Being Present in the transcendent Here and Now of Oneness Silence.

Impressions are karma that create more impressions and karma. Impressions are like genetic imprints—genes are karma.

Karma is both action and reaction. Karma is the result or consequence of actions and reactions and motives.

Karma is balance and justice. Karma is the natural physics of life and the law of nature. All that we do comes back to us—As we sow, so shall we reap is a natural law. What we give returns to us and what we withhold is taken from us. For every action there is a reaction—action and reaction are coexistent and coordinate as one.

In ignorance we react and act in reaction.

Action and reaction spring from dual subject-object relativity.

Action and reaction bind us and keep us spinning on the Wheel of Karma.

Karma is the play of Maya and Grace.

Grace and Maya are the limitless Power and Manifestation of the One and coexistent.

Grace is the play of Oneness Truth and Perfection in Maya's infinitude that is the play of ignorance in illusion.

Maya is action and reaction and the karmic mover and shaker of the infinitude. In Maya's play of ignorance in illusion Maya is the Karmic Lord of returns and retribution.

Grace coexistent with Maya is karmic balance and justice and mercy in the infinitude.

Grace purifies and heals and quickens compassion and wisdom.

All impressions and inclinations and karma are burned and dissolved by Oneness Grace.

Maya's Dream is the prodigious play and drama of man and woman and their offspring under Maya's Spell of ignorance and illusion. Humans are the only beings that consciously turn within to the One Light of Truth. And God made man in His Image. The Kingdom of Heaven is within as the One Self and Reality that is Oneness Perfection. It is the Power of Grace that pulls us within and aligns us with Oneness Truth and Perfection, while it is Maya mind that creates and projects illusion and makes illusion seem real.

This turning within is the spiritual path and journey that is the gradual dissolution of the ego mind in an ascending order of finer purer mental grades and levels, leading to the annihilation of the ego mind and the full unveiling of the One Self and Reality. The annihilation of the ego mind is Waking from the Dream of Maya and Liberation from all ignorance and illusion.

All true spiritual guidance and blessing is Grace. All that is truly auspicious is Grace. All that purifies is Grace and all that burns and destroys the ego mind is Grace.

Grace is ever within as our Guide.

Grace is the One Self—our Guide and Beloved.

Until we turn within to the eternal One Light that is the Self, we will not know Grace as ever flowing, ever Here Now.

Association with the Realized Liberated and illumined is of paramount importance and invaluable, but it is the One Self that is our ultimate Guide and Beloved.

Grace is ever flowing from the Heart of Existence—the infinitely luminous and ever Shining One I that is the Self.

Grace destroys the ego mind and reveals the eternal One infinite to be the Self.

Grace comes in the form of the spiritual Guide.

Grace may assume form and name so to be visible and accessible to devotees and seekers of Truth but is ever within as the formless eternal One Self and Beloved.

Grace and the Guide and Self and Beloved are One and the same.

Association and alignment with Oneness Truth in any form in any way is Grace.

Grace is the One Heart.

Grace never sees the ego mind or world of illusion. It is when our heart is wide open or when we are totally relaxed or least expecting it that Grace takes hold. The ways of Grace are unfathomable.

Grace is absolutely essential for Realization and Liberation.

Grace burns and annihilates the ego mind, thus destroying the Veil of illusion.

Oneness Truth ever Is Here and Now.

Oneness Truth alone is in Silence.

Oneness Truth is the One Absolute.

Oneness Truth is ever unchanging.

Oneness Truth is Reality.

The unchanging Reality transcendent of the ego mind is the One and Only Truth.

Oneness Truth is the One Self.

Reality is the Truth of the Self.

There is no refuge other than Truth—when we disown untruth we stand as Truth Itself.

Oneness Truth is Reality Experience that is Self Knowledge.

In Oneness Truth both ignorance and knowledge dissolve in Self Knowledge that is Reality Experience.

Oneness Truth is Omnipotent Omniscient Omnipresence.

Oneness Truth is transcendent of the ego body mind world cosmos.

Oneness Truth is never what is thought of it.

The ego mind can only obscure and veil Truth.

We betray and overlook Truth by seeking it in the ego body mind world cosmos.

Oneness Truth is transcendent of all truths and facts.

That which is other than Oneness Truth is nonexistent.

Oneness Truth is transcendent Knowledge.

Direct Experience of Oneness Truth is absolute Knowledge.

Oneness Truth is nonconceptual Knowledge and never an object of knowledge.

Knowledge that is free of dual subject-object relativity alone is real and absolute.

One who truly Knows knows there is nothing to know.

Conceptual knowing and knowledge is unreal, as is ignorance.

Conceptual knowing and knowledge is based on dual subject-object relativity that is subjective experience and an illusion and a zero and nothing.

Conceptual knowledge is knowledge of the ego body mind world cosmos, while nonconceptual Knowledge is Oneness Truth in transcendent Silence.

Ignorance is the perpetual shadow of conceptual knowledge.

Ignorance—the unknown—and knowledge—the known—are dual coexisting opposites that are relative.

Ignorance in illusion ever spins the web of illusory conceptual knowledge.

Ignorance of Oneness Truth—Reality—is the source of all error confusion conflict vice suffering and so on.

Identification with the ego body mind springs from ignorance of Oneness Truth.

Worthy knowledge is knowledge that is discerning and frees one from both knowledge and ignorance.

Worthy knowledge is like the thorn used to remove another thorn painfully imbedded in flesh—it discerns the real from the unreal, truth from untruth, pointing one beyond the ego mind to Oneness Truth that is absolute Knowledge.

Alignment with Oneness Truth is a prerequisite for Freedom from all ignorance and illusion.

Honesty is aligned with Oneness Truth and a prerequisite for genuine integrity and an auspicious and good life.

Oneness Truth destroys the ego mind and all ignorance and illusion.

Which came first, the seed or the tree? This is an existential question that comes from the mind. There is no true conceptual answer to any existential question. The answer or Truth alone is in Silence.

Why do I exist? Why does all this exist? These are existential questions that come from the mind. There is no true conceptual answer to any existential question. The answer or Truth alone is in Silence.

Who am I? This is an existential question that comes from the mind. There is no true conceptual answer to any existential question. The answer or Truth alone is in Silence.

Why does illusion exist? This is an existential question that comes from the mind. There is no true conceptual answer to any existential question. The answer or Truth alone is in Silence.

We all have come up with various answers to various existential questions but there has never been any one evident and certain conclusion because there are no true conceptual answers to existential questions. The answer or Truth alone is in Silence.

Some say Existence is a mystery, but this is a conceptual conclusion that misses the mark because there is no true response to any existential quandary. The answer or Truth alone is in Silence.

The key to any existential puzzle or dilemma is Consciousness. When the mind is still and silent or dissolved only the Silence of Consciousness that is the One Self and Reality remains—we are the Silence of Consciousness that is Oneness Truth and the answer to any existential question. Truth alone is in Silence and never in the ego mind. All existential questions, all longing and search for Truth and Knowledge, ultimately bring us to Silence transcendent of the ego mind.

Truth ever Is

Here in the eternal Now of absolute Silence.

Discrimination is a tool used to discern the real from the unreal.

Discrimination between the real and unreal, the Self and non-Self, brings one into complete alignment with Oneness Truth. The one who discerns that which is true from that which is false and turns from illusion to Reality, from darkness to Light, is qualified for Realization and Liberation. Devotion and love for Truth are the means for right discrimination and the turning to and alignment with the One Light within that frees one from all that is false and untruth. The clear recognition and conviction that the One is real and the ego body mind world cosmos unreal is right discrimination.

Renunciation and Realization are akin—when all that is non-Self is renounced, only the Self remains. Abidance in/as the One Self is automatic renunciation and abandonment of all that it is non-Self. Renunciation negates while abidance affirms yet both lead to Realization.

Right action purifies the mind but does not lead to Self Realization. Realization proceeds from right discrimination and higher reasoning and not by action of any kind. Action does not lead one to freedom from illusion, whereas Realization is Freedom. Clear recognition and conviction proceeds from right discrimination and higher reasoning, and not from action. By higher reasoning the rope of Reality is discriminated from the snake of illusion—by way of discrimination the reality of the rope is discerned from the illusion of the snake.

Under the lens of higher reasoning and in the impersonal One Light of Awareness all obscure emotions and motives and mental modes are exposed and clearly known. Awareness—the One Witness Seer—exposes and Sees all to be clearly observed by the higher intellect. All ego mind movement is Witnessed, and when detached one clearly sees and observes without bias and in all honesty.

The Light of the One Witness Seer burns the ego mind.

It is an illusory dream and dreaming of the ego mind that is Witnessed.

The root belief from which all other beliefs spring is: I am the body—I was born and will die. This primal belief based on misidentification springs from ignorance and is immensely powerful and holds most in its sway.

All bias in the form of beliefs judgments negativity and such color and distort perception and experience. Higher reasoning is not based on preconception and thus is unbiased. It takes time to divest oneself of all the layers of blind beliefs and biased judgments and reactionary opinions and so on. These layers are a dense dark ignorance that creates stupid sheep in a conditioned world. Only earnest and honest investigation based on the longing for Truth and Freedom will deconstruct the layered structure of ignorance in illusion. Going to the root of ignorance—the ego—will solve all puzzles and unravel all tangles and unburden unbind and Free one.

Criticism judgment and negativity are fundamentally worthless—it is clear unbiased observation and reasoning and self-honesty that will free one from ignorance that makes false assumptions and holds erroneous beliefs sustained by imagination and memory.

The one who clearly discerns the Self from the non-Self, Reality from illusion, knows the ego mind to be the source of all ignorance delusion and illusion and thereby lives Free of the ego and all unnecessary thinking and action.

Discrimination between the true and the untrue, along with the clear comprehension of the nature of desire and fear, is our spiritual backbone. But it is love for Freedom that most powerfully establishes one in Oneness Truth.

Attention rises from Consciousness as a pointed mental focus on an object.

When attention is not directed and focused on an object it relaxes and dissolves in its Source—Consciousness.

Attention needs the support of an object and intention otherwise it dissolves in Consciousness.

Attention focused on an object is an energetic contraction and an illusory superimposition on Consciousness.

Attention as a directed mental focus on an object is either one-pointed or wavering.

Attention as focus is directed by intention to an object of interest, external or internal, and is a conscious mental action.

Attention is a conceived seeming of stretching to an object other than the subject I and thus dual relative experience that is subjective.

Everything perceived is an object and objective to attention, including all mental and sensory phenomena. Everything and all that seems to be or exist is an object.

Attention is perception that thought takes hold of as experience that is dual relative subjective and unreal.

When attention is directed and focused on an external or internal object the conceptual perceiver-perceiving-perceived triad comes into play.

Attention and intention, combined, are focus, but intention commands attention.

Attention and intention and focus, coordinate and conjunct as one, are an energetic contraction involving strain.

Mental impressions and inclinations bring interest and intention into play and determine the nature and power / force of the focus.

Attention springs from Consciousness as pure perception until intention directs it as focus to an object via thought—initially there is immediate pure perception until thought takes hold as experience.

Attention as conscious focus emerges via the brain and senses as objective perception that in turn is formulated as form and name by thought that in turn becomes dual relative experience that is subjective.

Attention is based on the dual subject-object relativity of thought / the mind, but when the mind turns within attention subsides and dissolves in Consciousness.

Attention is neutral, while interest / intention is the power / force that determines and directs the quality of focus. When interest / intention ceases, attention automatically dissolves in Consciousness without an object to focus on.

Attention intention and focus are vague and wandering in infancy but develop to a norm level of sharpness for functioning in life and the world.

Life and living are based on attention intention and focus—without attention intention and focus there is no individual or experience or life.

Introvert the mind—introversion is the state of non-attention in which the mind subsides and dissolves in Consciousness.

Introversion of the mind is absolute Consciousness—the One Self that is pure Presence.

Presence is ever Here Now as the limitless One I.

The mind turned inward is absolute Consciousness and turned outward the ego body world cosmos.

The ego via the I-thought is the agent of attention and experience and the assumed doer and owner. When the ego-I has no interest no desire no attachment, it automatically and effortlessly returns to its Source—Consciousness—the One Self and real I.

When attention rises from Consciousness as interest / intention focused on an object, Consciousness—the underlying One Reality—is obscured. When attention dissolves in its Source—Consciousness—the ever-existent Reality that is absolute Consciousness Shines.

Consciousness is objectified by thought but this is an illusion.

Attention and thought appear and disappear in Consciousness and are but an illusory superimposition, while Consciousness remains ever the same as immutable and indivisible Oneness in absolute Silence.

Attention and intention are the antithesis of Oneness Presence ever Free of intention and purpose.

transcendent

the timeless Now of Oneness Silence.

Consciousness plus perception plus thought is experience.

Everything and all that seems to be or exist is an illusory superimposition on Consciousness—such as, perception thought experience and so on.

Consciousness is the underlying One Reality that makes everything and all that seems to be or exist evident and possible.

All perception is instant—prior to thought—and initially pure until thought takes hold as dual experience that is relative.

Thought is based on dual subject-object relativity and thus projects experience that is dual and relative and subjective, while perception in its first instant is direct pure and absolute.

There is no duality or relativity in direct pure perception that is absolute.

Perception that is direct and pure—Here and Now—is absolute Experience transcendent of thought / the mind.

Perception tainted / colored by thought is indirect impure experience that is dual relative subjective and unreal.

Conceptual perception and experience are indirect impure dual relative subjective and unreal.

Perception owned by the ego via thought becomes conceptual experience that is unreal.

The ego is the I-thought that is the primary and root thought from which all other thoughts spring. The ego is a powerful abstract mental construct created by thought and sustained by memory. The ego is an energetic contraction and the centric force of thought.

Conceptual experience is based on dual subject-object relativity and thus indirect and unreal.

Dual subject-object relativity creates the illusion of separation.

Conceptual experience is subjective and illusory.

All thought driven experience is temporal and ephemeral.

Conceptual experience can be objectified and analyzed, labeled and categorized.

Conceptual experience is an illusory superimposition on Consciousness.

Conceptual experience obscures Oneness—illusion veils Reality.

Nonconceptual Perception and Experience are direct pure nondual absolute and real.

Pure Perception is direct—prior to and transcendent of the ego mind.

Pure perception is Here Now.

Pure perception is absolute Awareness Consciousness.

Pure perception is absolute Experience.

Direct nondual Experience is absolute.

Absolute Experience is Here Now transcendent of the ego mind.

Absolute Experience is Oneness—Reality Experience.

Oneness Experience—Reality Experience—is in absolute Silence.

Consciousness is the one constant in all experience and the continuity in the world of experience.

Repeated experience of any same one object is never identical—each experience of the same one object is unique. The ego body mind world cosmos is ever changing yet all experience shares one unchanging commonality—Consciousness. Everything and all that seems to be or exist appears and disappears in Consciousness the underlying One Reality. Consciousness is ever unchanging Oneness that alone ever Is.

The infinitude is an endless ever-changing multiplicity and diversity in endless variation. Countless combinations of countless attributes contribute to the endless variation of experience that is but an illusory superimposition on Consciousness.

It is in the direct open and genuine meeting of experience that Truth comes to Light and a natural outcome is the result. Interacting with motive or an agenda is artificial and ultimately off the mark.

Nonreactive and actionless in action and without motive, one is pure and Free.

Established in the Here and Now one is transparent and traceless Oneness.

Pure Perception and absolute Experience are ever Here and Now transcendent of the ego mind.

The One and Only alone Experiences Itself.

The One is absolute Experience as Oneness.

Oneness Knows only Oneness.

All reaction is personally stamped by the ego.

Reaction is a prime tool of Maya.

Reaction distracts us from Presence and Oneness—reaction is the antithesis of Oneness.

Reactionless one is transcendent Oneness Freedom Here Now.

Reaction and action are essentially based on desire and fear.

In ignorance we react.

We act in reaction and react in action.

Reaction is an automatic reflex that keeps us in the illusory world of the ego mind.

It is mental impressions and inclinations that move us to react and act.

Reaction springs from the ego as dynamic differentiation and separation.

Reaction is the ego in action as desire and fear as the judge and critic and so on.

Reaction takes the form of like and dislike and ideation and emotion and so on.

All opinions and likes and dislikes are conditioned and biased reactions.

Reaction via attraction repulsion association preference preconception belief and so on creates colors and distorts experience and binds us.

All live in the world according to preconceived ideas that color and distort experience. All live in a biased way, on a tangent, based on differentiation that creates separation and conflict. All are conditioned. All are ignorant living in a world of illusion.

Reaction is a mark of ignorance in illusion.

Reaction binds and keeps us in illusion.

Reaction is the antithesis of Oneness Freedom.

Consciousness is the One Absolute.

Consciousness is absolute Oneness Experience.

Consciousness is Oneness Perfection.

Consciousness is formless unchanging Oneness Transparency.

Consciousness is One indivisible Whole that is limitless.

The ego mind objectifies Consciousness and projects its own nature onto Consciousness.

There are no grades or levels or planes of Consciousness, nor varied sorts of Consciousness—Consciousness is formless limitless immutable indivisible Oneness.

It alone is the ego mind that creates and projects division and variation in the form of grades levels planes and such onto Consciousness. The ego mind based on dual subject-object relativity is the Veil of illusion and a superimposition on Consciousness.

The infinitude is not a play of Consciousness—it is the play of the ego mind that is Maya.

Consciousness is ever unmoving Oneness transcendent of the ego mind and infinitude that is but an illusory superimposition on Consciousness. It is of paramount importance to realize that Oneness Consciousness is the underlying One Reality of everything and all that seems to be or exist yet is ever untainted and unmoved.

Consciousness is the One Reality.

Consciousness is the Uncreated and Unborn, without a beginning or end.

Consciousness is absolute Existence Awareness Bliss—the One Reality and Self.

Consciousness is never attained but ever already Realized.

Consciousness is the One Reality and all else that seems to be or exist is a creation and projection of Maya mind and an illusory superimposition and a zero and nothing.

Consciousness is the underlying One Reality of everything and all that seems to be or exist.

Consciousness is the Self-existent Self-evident Self-luminous One Self.

Consciousness is ever Self Aware.

Consciousness Knows only Consciousness.

Consciousness is our eternal Nature and real Identity.

Consciousness is absolute I AM.

I am conscious. I am conscious of Consciousness. I am Consciousness Itself. I AM.

Consciousness is the limitless I—the One Self—that is the Heart of Oneness.

When the ego dissolves in Consciousness the One Self Shines, unveiled.

Just as a rope is mistaken for a snake, so we mistake the One Self—Consciousness—for the ego body mind.

We are Consciousness in which thoughts perceptions and experiences appear and disappear.

Realization that absolute Consciousness is our real Identity is enough to bring the seeking mind to an end. It is seeking alone that bypasses and postpones the Here and Now of Self Realization.

Consciousness is Omnipotent Omniscient Omnipresence.

Consciousness is an absolute Power and Intelligence that is limitless.

The cosmic illusion is a mind creation projected onto the Omnipotent Omniscient Omnipresent Screen of Consciousness like a 3D movie. The world of illusion is a movie we watch—all of life in the cosmos is a movie we thrill to. Watching the movie is part of the movie—a movie within a movie ad infinitum in illusion.

Consciousness is the One Source Substratum Substance of everything and all that seems to be or exist.

Consciousness is All there Is.

Consciousness is a limitless continuum in which everything and all that seems to be or exist appears and disappears.

Consciousness is the Unified Field in which everything and all that seems to be or exist is interconnected intermixed as one totality.

What is an object? Consciousness.

Just as the ocean is nothing but water, so the world and cosmos is nothing but Consciousness.

Attention and intention without an object to focus on dissolve in their Source—Consciousness.

All that springs from Consciousness dissolves back into Consciousness.

Everything and all that seems to be or exist is a superimposition on Consciousness.

The infinitude is in the mind and both are in Consciousness.

All objects are in Consciousness and nonexistent in themselves—Consciousness makes all objects evident and possible.

Like clouds that appear and disappear in the sky, thoughts feelings memories and so on appear and disappear in Consciousness.

Everything and all that seems to be or exist are mere waves and bubbles that appear and disappear in the boundless Ocean of Consciousness.

Everything and all that seems to be or exist is projected onto the limitless Screen of Consciousness like a 3D movie.

Consciousness alone ever Is.

Consciousness is limitless and timeless Oneness.

Consciousness is the One Reality and all else is but an illusion.

Oneness Knows only Oneness—Consciousness Knows only Consciousness. Oneness and Consciousness are One and the same. Consciousness is ever Here in the eternal Now of Oneness.

That which is other than Consciousness is an illusion and nonexistent.

Consciousness is ever Here and Now.

The Here and Now is the limitless Abode of Consciousness.

The eternal Here and Now of Oneness is absolute Consciousness.

The Now of Consciousness is absolute.

Consciousness is the One Light that is an absolute Power.

Consciousness is Self-luminous Oneness ever transcendent and pristine.

Consciousness is the limitless One Illuminator.

Consciousness is the One Light that Illumines the infinitude.

Consciousness is the One Light in everything and all that seems to be or exist.

Consciousness is the One Light in all perception and experience.

Consciousness is the One Light of Intelligence that makes all objects evident and possible.

Consciousness is the One Light of all material lights and their reflections.

Nothing exists or happens unless the One Light of Intelligence Sees it.

The ego mind operates in the Light of Consciousness which makes it evident and possible.

The Light of Consciousness is an absolute Power that outshines everything and all that seems to be or exist.

Consciousness is a transcendental Mirror.

Consciousness is Empty.

Consciousness is Naked.

Consciousness is Transparency.

When one looks into the Mirror of Consciousness one Sees the One Self and Reality.

The infinitude is one interconnected intermixed totality that is an obscure reflection of Oneness in the Mirror of Consciousness.

The reflection of the infinitude in the Mirror of Consciousness is but an illusory creation and projection of the ego mind. The infinitude and the ego mind and all creations and projections are illusory and a zero in Oneness Consciousness.

Consciousness is ever Knowing Awareness, and never the known.

Consciousness is the One Seer and Knower of everything and all that seems to be or exist.

Consciousness is the eternal One I that is the infinite Eye that Sees all.

Consciousness is the Knowing Awareness underlying all perception and experience.

Consciousness is an Ocean of Intelligence.

We are ever the Knowing Awareness of all perception and experience—we are Consciousness Itself.

That which is known is an illusion—the One Seer and Knower alone is real.

I am not the body or mind or any object—I Am the One Seer and Knower.

All we know is experience and all we know of experience is the knowing of it, so all we ever really know is knowing that alone is known by itself—knowing knows only knowing. Since we are this absolute knowing, knowing is never experienced as an object—knowing just Is. Knowing is the sole Source Substance Substratum of all experience. We are Knowing Awareness—Consciousness.

Consciousness is absolute Experience and the one constant and continuity in all experience.

Consciousness has never had an experience—Consciousness is absolute Experience.

Experience of any one same object is never identical—each experience is unique and subjective. Perception is always a subjective experience when thought intervenes and takes hold. Everything changes and all experience is unique yet there is the sense that there is a commonality shared by each and every experience and that is Consciousness—Consciousness is the one constant in each and every experience and the only continuity in the world of experience. We might say that it is memory that is the continuity in experience, but experiences differ and memory falters, while Consciousness is One Whole and indivisible and ever the same.

Consciousness is transcendent Silence.

Consciousness is a limitless Ocean of Silence and Light and Knowing.

Consciousness is absolute Silence in the eternal Here and Now of Oneness.

Consciousness is Oneness Silence ever transcendent of the ego body mind world cosmos.

We are like bubbles in the Ocean of Consciousness—when the bubble pops, all is ocean.

It is the absolute Silence of Consciousness when thought ceases.

That which Shines before and after every thought is the Silence of Consciousness.

The mind turned inward is Consciousness and turned outward the ego body world cosmos.

One whose Identity is absolute Consciousness is limitless Freedom transcendent of the ego mind and all ignorance and illusion.

It is the human being who turns within to the One Light of Consciousness that is the infinite eternal One Self. This turning within is the spiritual path and journey that is the gradual dissolution of the ego mind in an ascending order of finer purer mental grades and levels, leading to the annihilation of the ego mind and the full unveiling of Consciousness as the One Reality and Self. Ocean of Consciousness

Just as the ocean is nothing but water

everything is nothing but Consciousness.

Reality ever Is, while illusion is ever nonexistent.

Reality is the One Absolute.

Reality alone ever Is.

Reality is ever unchanging and absolute.

Reality is infinite eternal Existence.

Reality is Here Now.

Reality is infinite eternal Oneness.

Reality is formless indivisible Oneness

Reality is absolute Oneness Experience.

Reality is limitless Oneness Perfection.

The One alone is Real—all else that seems to be or exist is unreal.

There is no creation preservation or destruction in Oneness Reality—only in illusion.

There are no forms formations or formulations in Oneness Reality—only in illusion.

There is no differentiation division or distinctions in Oneness Reality—only in illusion.

There is no space time or dimensions in Oneness Reality—only in illusion.

Reality is the One Self—our real Identity.

Reality is Self-existent Self-evident Self-luminous Oneness.

Reality is the infinite One Self that is the eternal Heart of Oneness.

Reality is the eternal Truth of the infinite One Self.

Reality is absolute Existence Awareness Bliss transcendent of the ego body mind world cosmos.

Reality is Oneness devoid of dual subject-object relativity and ever transcendent of all thought and words and illusion.

Reality is beyond the world, beyond virtue and vice, beyond spacetime, beyond everything and all that seems to be or exist.

Reality is ever transcendent of the fiery suns and heavenly stars and the cosmos and cosmic.

Reality is absolute Silence.

Reality is Oneness Silence ever transcendent of all illusion.

Reality is an Ocean of Intelligence that is absolute Bliss in eternal Silence.

Reality is the still and silent mind that is no mind, while the mind in motion is illusion.

Reality is Oneness, while illusion is a zero and nonexistent.

Reality is Oneness Truth, while illusion is a lie and untrue.

Reality is Oneness, while illusion is duality and false.

Reality is ever Here and Now, while illusion never was or will be.

There is an infinite divide between Reality and illusion.

Illusion is everything that the One Reality is not.

Illusion is: unreal; a false appearance; that which seems like something that it is not, like a mirage; that which seems different from what it is, like an optical illusion; that which deceives, like the deception in a magic trick.

Illusion is essentially nonexistent like a zero that is nothing.

Illusion is a multiplicity diversity and variation of finite objects that are derivative.

Illusion is divided and divisible, with a beginning middle and end.

Illusion is ever changing and transient.

Illusion is conditioned with countless conditions and limited with countless limitations.

Illusion is an explosion of endless attributes qualities and limits.

Illusion is unreal like a dream or mirage or hallucination or magic trick.

Illusion is a mind creation and projection that in ignorance is believed to be real.

There is deception in illusion and consequent delusion.

The usual assumption is that the body and all sensory experience is real yet in reality that which is formless and imperceptible alone is real. Another assumption is that all cognition and cognitive experience is based on reality yet in reality all experience of every sort is an illusory mind creation and projection that is but a zero and nothing.

The senses and cognition do not reveal the actual nature of sense objects and more to the point all that is perceived is an illusory appearance in Consciousness.

All body mind experience is mere illusion, like a mirage or hallucination.

Illusion is Maya, the Master Illusionist that makes illusion seem real.

Illusion is a veil that obscures Oneness Reality, like clouds hide the bright disc of the sun.

The body mind can never ever sense perceive conceive or know the formless Unknowable One Reality.

We are lost in the illusion of the ego mind, ignorant of Reality, the Self.

Illusion is the Shadow of the One Reality, and like all shadows is nothing in itself.

Illusion is ever spinning in circles and revolving in cycles.

Illusion can be discerned from that which is real by way of higher reasoning.

Disputation regarding the reality or illusion of the world is conceptual and thus a dead end, as Reality is ever transcendent of the ego body mind world cosmos. Disputation regarding reality and illusion is fundamentally an existential puzzle that is not in the scope of the mind. Reality is absolute Silence in which everything and all that seems to be or exist vanishes.

Illusion appears with thought and disappears without it.

When thought ceases, Reality Shines as Oneness Consciousness.

When the mind is still and silent or annihilated, all illusion vanishes.

Thought is not to be found when searched for in the Light of Awareness.

Attention and intention without an object to focus on dissolve in their Source—Consciousness, the One Reality.

Illusion is nonexistent only for those Liberated with Reality Experience that is Self Knowledge.

When one is Present the ego mind dissolves in its Source, Consciousness, but only when the ego mind is completely annihilated is there Liberation transcendent of all ignorance and illusion.

In illusion there is ignorance of Reality.

Mistaking illusion for Reality, we wander lost in a vast web of illusion and in ignorance ever spin more illusion.

In illusion, in ignorance, we react. We act in reaction and react in action. All reaction and action are based on separation desire and fear in illusion.

In illusion, in ignorance, we identify with form and generate more forms. All form is based on separation desire and fear in illusion.

In illusion, in ignorance, we contract as the ego-I that is a protracted contraction. The ego and all contraction are based on separation desire and fear in illusion.

In illusion, in ignorance, we create boundaries and walls that limit and separate, and contrive masks to wear. All boundaries walls and masks are based on separation desire and fear in illusion.

In illusion, in ignorance, we have countless doubts questions and conflicts. All doubts questions and conflicts are based on separation desire and fear in illusion.

In illusion, in ignorance, we aim for success and gain and resist failure and loss. All success and gain and failure and loss are based on separation desire and fear in illusion.

In illusion, in ignorance, we long for communion merging and union. All longing of any sort is based on separation desire and fear in illusion.

In illusion, in ignorance, we search for knowledge and Truth. All search of any sort is based on separation desire and fear in illusion.

In Reality there is no ignorance or illusion.

Reality is absolute Oneness Truth transcendent of all ignorance and illusion.

Reality is absolute Oneness Freedom transcendent of all ignorance and illusion.

Reality is absolute Oneness Perfection transcendent of all ignorance and illusion.

Reality alone Shines

Unveiled

in

Oneness Silence

the illusory mind.

Nothing ever happens in the Here and Now of Reality.

In illusion everything happens, while in Reality nothing (no thing) ever happens.

Reality never happens—Reality just Is.

Reality is Emptiness (of all things) and Fullness (as Oneness).

Reality is One and alone ever Is, while illusion is a zero that never was or will be.

Everything that happens is a zero and nothing—thus go beyond zero to/as the One Who alone ever Is.

All things that happen are an illusion and a zero and nothing that is no thing.

Nothing (no thing) happens without Maya—the Creator of illusion.

In Maya's Grand Illusion everything happens but this is a mirage that is an illusion and a zero and nothing.

Illusion happens but this is an illusory trick of Maya and a zero and nothing.

We may summon memory or guess in answer to a question, but this just happens. We may reason but this just happens. We may make a choice, but this too just happens. We may leap out from danger's way, but this just happens like everything else just happens.

Everything and all that seems to be or exist just happens and this happening is a mirage that is but an illusion and a zero and nothing. Everything that happens is an illusory mind creation projected onto the limitless Screen of Consciousness. All creations and projections happen in illusion and are an illusory superimposition on Consciousness—the One Reality—and but a zero and nothing that is no thing.

The realization that everything that happens is an illusion is the perfect perspective and view. This realization, coordinate with complete trust in and surrender to the One, swiftly brings one to Oneness Freedom transcendent of all illusory happenings.

Happening is an illusion and a zero, while Oneness Reality ever Is.

Everything happens by the One Power and Will of Maya.

Life and living are conditioned existence programmed and predetermined by the Power and Will of Maya.

Everything and all that seems to be or exist is programmed and predetermined—including the seemingly spontaneous and random and so on.

All illusion all illusory happenings are the deceptive Magic Trick of Maya.

Everything that springs from Maya is illusion.

Maya creates ignorance in illusion that in Reality is nonexistent.

Maya creates illusion that seems real that in Reality is a zero and nothing.

Maya is the Master illusionist that in Reality is irrelevant.

There are no mistakes.

Mistakes are illusory mind creations and projections predetermined by Maya.

In Reality there is nobody (no body) and nothing (no thing) to make mistakes.

In nature and the cosmos are there mistakes? It is humans that deem events and things to be mistakes. Mistakes are a serious matter for humans as they are on a path to improvement and even perfection, not knowing that they in reality are already Perfection Itself.

Those in illusion are innocent and blameless and nonexistent.

Nothing (no thing) is in our hands.

There is nobody (no body) nothing (no thing) to blame.

There is no individual personal power or will or control or volition or choice or option—only the illusion of it.

There is no real option when making a choice or decision. There is no real volition and only an erroneous assumption and belief in free will. There is no real control although there may seem to be.

We conduct our lives based on erroneous assumptions and premises and draw conclusions based on delusion in illusion. We are sustained by faith hope and dreams. Yet all is a Cosmic Joke—the ultimate source of comedy and tragedy and irony in the world.

Everything is programmed and predetermined by Maya, so where are we in all of this? Nowhere. We are essentially nonexistent. And if we assume that we are real and have control and free will then it is correct to hold ourselves responsible and accountable and not blame others and externals.

What / when is the origin of ignorance and error? Nothing / never. Cause and effect are an illusory prime tool of Maya. Origins alone spring from and point to illusion. Life in the world and cosmos is a repetitive circling spinning spiraling ad infinitum in illusion.

Affirmation and the assertion of desire springs from ignorance in illusion. Our assumption of separation based on erroneous misidentification with the ego body mind creates desire and fear and the world.

Illusion and ignorance are the Creation of Maya, yet Oneness Grace Awakens and Liberates all from ignorance and illusion, deeming all innocent and blameless. Maya and Grace—the Manifestation and Power of the One—are coexistent coordinate and intertwined as One in the play of Maya's illusory Creation and Dream.

Is worthiness the reason for Grace? No. It is when we sincerely call upon Grace with an open heart that Grace reveals Itself. Oneness Grace is always with us, always imminent and flowing. Knock and the door shall open, seek and you shall find, ask and it shall be given. It is when we finally see that everything is not as it seems that we turn to Oneness Truth to Light the darkness. Truth shall set you Free.

Grace Awakens and Liberates all from the Dream of Maya to the Reality that is the One Self.

The One Self is Grace and the Beloved and Guide.

With the annihilation of Maya mind, ignorance and illusion automatically vanish.

All that emerge from the One return to the One, like all rivers run to merge in the ocean.

Here Now

in

Oneness Perfection

of

Maya mind and all illusion and ignorance.

Nothing Ever Happens

Nothing ever happens

in

everything that happens

an illusion and nothing

thus

nothing ever happens.

Duality is division and separation as two.

We emerge from Oneness only to return to Oneness, and the space between emergence and return is an imaginary journey in duality that is but an illusion.

Duality is a dichotomy, something split in two—duality is separation and the antithesis of Oneness.

Separation is a trick of the mind that causes alienation and deep sorrow in the foreign land called duality.

Duality exists on the surface of things, like a mirage, but has deep roots in the universal psyche.

Duality is separation as time from here to there in a conceived space that is the basis of desire and fear.

Duality is an illusory mind creation and projection.

Duality is experience based on dual subject-object relativity.

Duality springs from body-identification as: I (my body) and you / it (the other).

Duality is the play of opposites in a mental space where everything is relative.

The infinitude is one interconnected intermixed totality with everything absolutely relative to the point of being canceled and a zero.

Dual opposites are coexistent and define one another and when in balance cancel one another.

Maya is the Power of the One that creates a zero in the form of dual differentiation and division as countless opposites that define each other and are ever relative in dynamic coexistence.

Duality is separation as division and fragmentation based on differentiation.

Duality is the play of attraction and repulsion, acceptance and rejection.

Duality spawns desire fear conflict doubt confusion worry stress suffering and so on.

Duality spawns anger greed lust jealousy pride arrogance hatred and so on.

Duality is the sorrow of separation.

Duality is the way of the world.

Duality is a myth that is legendary.

Duality vanishes in Oneness Reality Experience / Self Realization.

In absolute Silence we Wake from the dream of duality and separation

to Oneness Reality.

Never Two

Merging as one is illusory

like a mirage

as there is only

One and never two.

Separation

Separation

the foreign land called duality.

Nonduality is the direct way to/as Oneness Truth.

The One is nondual—One—thus nonduality is the direct way to/as the One.

The direct way is in alignment with Oneness Perfection.

The direct way is abidance in/as the absolute Silence of the eternal One infinite that is the One Reality and Self.

By making pilgrimages and such we forsake Oneness Omnipresence. By contemplating concentrating and meditating on an object of devotion we deny formless Oneness ever transcendent of all duality and the ego mind. By reciting chanting and such we deny the indescribable Nature and Silence of the One.

The direct way is Oneness.

The direct way is absolute Silence.

The direct way is Presence Here and Now.

The direct way is mere Being and pure Seeing.

The direct way is self-honesty and honesty in life and living.

The one aligned with Oneness Truth never lies and is honorable courageous and compassionate. With the deepest self-honesty comes Self Knowledge transcendent of all falsity and illusion.

The direct way is to realize that the One Absolute is the One Self transcendent of the ego body mind world cosmos.

The direst way is to recognize that the following obscure and betray Oneness and are the antithesis of Oneness Truth: dishonesty; belief in separation; belief in relationship based on differentiation; belief in becoming rather than just Being; belief in the authenticity of perception and experience; belief that Realization and Liberation are in the future and based on endeavor.

The direct way is to clearly comprehend to realize that the ultimate destiny of the ego is final surrender to its primal nonexistence and that the mind that objectifies the One and divides indivisible Oneness is the creator and projector of all ignorance and illusion and is a zero and nothing.

The direct way is in alignment with Oneness Truth until the final dissolution of the ego mind and all ignorance and illusion.

The direct way is to abandon the illusion of the separate self and all sense of inner and outer and simply abide as That which ever Is Here and Now.

The direct way is abidance in/as absolute Existence Awareness Bliss in Oneness Silence.

The direct way is infinite in the eternal Here and Now of Oneness.

Investigation into the nature of the ego mind and Consciousness and the Here and Now is preliminary.

Discrimination between the real and unreal, the Self and non-Self, is essential.

Devotion and love for Oneness Truth is imperative in turning from untruth to Truth, from the darkness of ignorance and illusion to the One Light of Consciousness—the One Reality and Self.

The ultimate question for all is: Who am I? This original universal question must be answered in/as the Emptiness of Silence that is absolute Consciousness—Who I AM is ever transcendent of the ego body mind world cosmos.

Oneness Truth ever Is

Here in the transcendent Now

absolute Silence.

Love is the supreme way to/as Oneness Perfection.

Pure love for the One in the form of the eternal One Beloved Who is Oneness Love and Perfection is the supreme way and a divine gift of Grace.

Absolute Love is Supreme and like the swiftest of arrows shot straight from and to the One Heart that is the eternal Beloved—the One and Only.

Absolute Love and Beauty are the underlying One Reality of everything and all that seems to be or exist.

Oneness Love is ever transcendent of the ego mind.

Pure love for the One Beloved is a Fire that burns and destroys the ego mind and all ignorance and illusion.

Pure love for the One Beloved abandons all but Love that has no resting place other than the Beloved.

Absolute Love is the Power and Manifestation of the One.

Absolute Love is limitless in the eternal Here and Now of Oneness.

Absolute Love is selfless and without purpose like the sun that shines on all.

The One Beloved is the transcendent Beatitude of Oneness Perfection.

The fragrance of the One Beloved is the Perfume of Paradise.

The One Beloved ever Shines in the One Heart.

The One Beloved listens only to the Music of the Heart—Love.

The One Heart is the eternal Abode of the One Beloved and Lover.

The One Light is the One Reality and Self that is the Witness Seer.

The One Light is an absolute Power and Intelligence.

The One Light is formless limitless immutable and indivisible.

The One Light is the Source Substance Substratum of all the endless material radiant lights that light up the endless space of the cosmos.

The light of the cosmos and world is electromagnetic radiation that exhibits properties of both waves and particles, which is referred to as wave-particle duality. Light and heat—as fire lightning stars and electricity—give and sustain life. There are various forms of light having varying wavelengths/frequencies—some visible and some invisible to the human eye. And it is color that materializes from the interaction of the spectrum of light with the spectral sensitivities of the light receptors of the human eye.

The One Light is the Substratum on which all the endless lights colors and reflections are but an illusory superimposition.

Shining light is reflected off endless surfaces throughout the world and cosmos. This play of light with its endless reflections is a dazzling display of the interconnectedness of the one totality that is the infinitude.

The entirety of all the combined brilliance and radiance of all the endless stars and luminaries is but an obscure reflection of the One Light of Awareness.

Desire enslaves and perpetuates the illusory world of the ego mind.

Throw away the chains of desire and be ever Free!

Desire keeps the ego mind active—desire keeps us captive in the illusory world of the mind. The ego mind being rooted in desire ceases without desire. All thought essentially springs from desire.

When we are desireless the ego mind automatically dissolves and with it all ignorance and illusion.

Desire is based on differentiation and the sense and assumption of separation and is a longing and search for fulfillment and completion, happiness and peace.

When desire completely ceases, Bliss Peace Love Freedom Reigns.

Desire is aligned with attraction and attachment and is an adulterated form of love.

Absolute Love is desireless.

Desire is the root of pain and suffering.

Desire is both pleasure and pain—desire fulfilled is pleasure and desire unfulfilled is pain. Wherever there is pleasure, pain is sure to follow—pain is pleasure's constant shadow. Pleasure and pain are coexistent opposites, ever attracting and commanding attention. Desire is often determined and obstinate and will settle for pain along with pleasure.

Desire springs from ignorance of Oneness Reality. Desire springs from ignorance in illusion—desire is a slave to illusion in ignorance.

Desire is an ego mind creation and projection that springs from ignorance.

Desire is intention attempting to complete a sense of incompleteness and bridge the gap of separation, but separation is an illusion that can never be bridged by desire, and the obtainment of an object or attainment of an objective can never permanently fulfill our desire-nature.

Desire is the urge and attempt to attain happiness and peace in a desired object / objective. The effort of desire stretching toward an uncertain future from the past that is memory creates fragmentation and tension. Desire is dependent on the desired object—desire is coexistent with attachment possessiveness and addiction.

An object possesses its possessor who feels the burden of possession and the binding of being possessed.

We are fragmented and frustrated by the perpetual tension of the opposites and oscillate between them, never fully or permanently satisfied and fulfilled, so one desire leads to another.

Desire is the pain of separation from the pleasure of attainment and possession.

Desire obscures and bypasses our natural state of Bliss and Peace.

Our innate Bliss is projected onto and associated with objects and the attainment of our desires.

When a desired object or objective is obtained, the happiness and peace we experience is our own inherent Bliss and Peace projected onto and associated with the object and the attainment of our desire. When the tension and fragmentation of desire is relieved, we feel complete for a time, but there are always more desires that keep us from permanent fulfillment, thus desire perpetuates itself. In error we have made the false assumption that happiness and peace are external to us, which keeps us trapped in illusion missing the truth that we in reality are That which we long for and seek. No matter what the desired object is it represents that which will complete and make us happy, but it is our innate Bliss and Peace we ultimately desire and in ignorance we needlessly suffer in illusion.

Self Realization alone is Freedom from the ignorance and illusion of desire and the suffering that comes with it. We are absolute Bliss Peace Love Freedom that is limitless—we are That which we ultimately desire.

It is an irony, a cosmic joke, that what desire ultimately seeks is all along to be found within as the Self and that it is desire that obscures and bypasses the Reality of the Self.

Nothing (no thing) can ever truly fulfill our desire-nature.

What we get from desire is a zero and nothing and what we lose is Self Power.

Desire binds and blinds—desire is bondage.

Destroy desire and Be Free.

Desire and hope are Maya's prime tools, along with attachment. Desire and hope and attachment are coexistent and coordinate and spring from ignorance that keeps us firmly entrenched in illusion, ever hoping for all that we desire envision and dream of.

Desire keeps all hopping and hoping in thrall of the world.

Hope is a powerful offshoot of desire and potentially everlasting—hope springs eternal.

Desire's perpetual shadow is fear—desire and fear have a symbiotic relationship.

Fear, like desire, is an energetic contraction that binds.

There is no desire or fear for the one who Knows everything to be an illusion and a zero and nothing.

Oneness is desireless and fearless and purposeless.

Desire and fear and hope and attachment spring from and are based on identification with the body and the dual subject-object relativity of the ego mind.

Desire takes the form of the ego.

The ego vanishes without desire.

Liberation from desire is egoless Freedom.

Desire is an energetic force that propels the ego body mind and world.

Without desire there is no fear greed lust anger attachment and so on.

Desire is an energetic contraction, ever changing and generative—desire perpetuates itself from the past into the future.

Desire creates idols to possess worship and treasure.

Desire is lust for an object that will satisfy and pacify it.

Desire is akin to lust and emotion and is the antithesis of Oneness Love.

Desire alone creates the world—desire is the world and the world desire.

Desire motivates and moves all and creates a life in the world.

Desire binds one to the world.

Desireless one is Free of the I-me-mine and fever of the world.

Desire may glitter and appear powerful and magnetic, but desire is a dark relentless lord that spawns vice and transgressions of every sort.

Desire may sport on the surface of life in ordinary ways, but desire keeps all ignorant in illusion.

Desire may wear the garb of good works and great achievements and advancement and even ascension, but desire keeps all trapped in illusion.

Desirelessness is Freedom and Liberation from ignorance and illusion.

Those who are Free live beyond the boundaries and limits of desire.

Desirelessness is the certain release from Maya mind and its annihilation.

There is one ultimate and worthy desire and that is the earnest desire for Freedom—this is the one worthy desire that Frees one from all desire and ignorance and illusion. The desire for Freedom is a gift and blessing from Oneness Grace that leads one swiftly to Realization and Liberation.

Desirelessness is the extinction of the ego mind and all illusion.

Desirelessness is the absolute Bliss of Freedom.

Why be tormented by desire?

Attachment chains us to illusion and keeps us bound.

No matter what our actions or thoughts may be, when there is no attachment, we are fundamentally free.

Nonattachment is a detached position and a detached position is aligned with Freedom and Liberation.

When there is no attachment or desire one automatically returns to one's Source—Oneness Reality.

Nonattachment is one of the purest states possible in illusion, while Oneness Reality is transcendent of both attachment and nonattachment.

One who neither accepts nor rejects anything is neither attached nor detached and is transcendent Freedom.

Be nonattached

The mind creates and projects a zero.

The mind is an illusion and essentially nonexistent.

Other than as thought the ego body mind world cosmos does not exist.

Maya—the Power of the One and the Almighty Creator of all illusion—is the origin of the mind. Maya and the mind are coexistent and appear and disappear as one. Maya is real and unreal, while the mind is ever unreal. The mind exists yet does not exist—the mind exists like a mirage of water in a desert exists but is nonexistent like the water in the mirage is nonexistent. Maya makes all illusion seem real and true and creates ignorance.

Maya is the illusory mind that is the Veil of illusion and the Shadow of the One and a zero and nothing.

Maya mind creates and projects the illusory infinitude that is the Veil of illusion and the Shadow of the One and a zero and nothing.

The mind and the infinitude appear and disappear in Consciousness and are an illusory superimposition.

The mind and the infinitude obscure and veil Oneness—this is the Power of Maya.

The infinitude is a mirage, and all experience an illusion—this is the Power of Maya.

When absorbed and lost in the mind we are the Veil of illusion and live as the Shadow of the One.

For the Realized / Liberated the Veil of illusion is absolutely dissolved but the Shadow remains until the death of the body.

All that happens is alone by the Power and Will of Maya, including the mastery of the mind that too is but an illusion.

The mind is an abstract mental construct created by thought that represents all cognitive processes.

All cognitive faculties and processes are referred to as mind.

The mind is: the complex of elements in an individual that perceives thinks feels determines remembers and reasons; and the conscious mental events and faculties in a human.

The brain is an organ of the body, but the mind is not.

The brain serves as the center of the nervous system and the coordination between the mind and body and environment. The mind is a complex of cognitive processes that take place in the brain and thus it can be said that the mind resides in the brain. The brain and mind as concepts differ and overlap but essentially the brain and mind are coordinate and coexistent as one—without the brain there is no mind and without the mind there is no brain. The brain is where the electronic impulses that create thought are contained, and where the coordination in life as a living entity takes place. The mind is the ego I-thought and perception as experience and thought feeling reason memory determination and so on.

Consciousness is the Source Substratum Substance of the mind brain body and environment. Consciousness is the continuum in which the mind brain body and environment appear and disappear.

The mind and body are coordinate and coexistent as one, but the body is in the mind and the mind is in Consciousness.

The mind rules the world via the five bodily senses and the sixth sense that is the mind endlessly extended in all directions. The five senses of the body are the vehicle for perception, as is the sixth sense that is the cognitive part of the brain. The eyes see, ears hear, nose smells, tongue tastes, skin feels, and the brain perceives thought and all that comprises the mind, while Consciousness—the One Witness Seer—Sees and Knows all.

The mind is the power of reason and imagination.

Reason and imagination working in tandem create and produce the greatest achievements and advances in all the fields of human endeavor. It is the balance of reason and imagination that is the most powerful human dynamic in life.

The mind is ever changing cognition as perception and experience and memory.

Cognition is: all mental processes; a result of the cognitive process; and the process of knowing.

Perception is instant and prior to thought until thought takes hold as experience.

External sense perception and experience—such as a bird and its song or the sensation of silk to the touch of the hand—is in the mind and conceptual. Internal sense perception and experience—such as thinking or an imagined journey or a memory of a journey taken—is in the mind and conceptual. External and internal are mere abstract mental constructs and all experience of external and internal phenomena is conceptual.

Thought and perception and experience are based on dual subject-object relativity that is subjective and an illusion.

The mind is a stream of thoughts and feelings and mental images.

A thought is: a form created in the mind, rather than the forms perceived through the five senses; an instance of cognition or thinking; an idea.

A feeling is: an impression; a reaction; an emotion; an intuition; an unreasoned belief; recognition; an instinctual sense.

A mental image is: an impression or picture of a form not present or that is imagined. An image in itself is a likeness or representation or reproduction of a form.

Thought is a finite object that is material and vibratory.

All objects have form and are finite and material. And all matter is energy and thus mutable and vibratory, of various densities, some very fine and imperceptible to the senses, like thought. The brain and sensory system are material mutable and vibratory.

All thoughts, all objects, are an illusion and a zero and nothing.

That which appears and disappears is an illusory finite mutable vibratory object and a zero and nothing.

All thought is finite and fleeting. All thought has form and vibration and thus is mutable experience that is limited. All thought is objective yet a subjective experience. All thought is derivative and thus relative. All thought is based on the subject-object dichotomy and thus dual experience that is relative. All thought is conditioned by the past. All thought is an illusion and a zero and nothing. All thought is essentially nonexistent.

Thought is an object directly perceived by the brain and Witnessed by Consciousness.

Thought is a finite mutable object and vibratory, whereas Consciousness is not. Consciousness is objectified by thought but is not an object or perceivable—Consciousness is the One Witness Seer of all thought, all objects, and is infinite formless immutable and indivisible.

Thought can never experience Consciousness and Consciousness never experiences thought—this is the one and only commonality that thought and Consciousness share.

The stream of thought is projected onto the Screen of Consciousness, like a 3D movie.

The mind is feeling and emotion that magnify thought.

Feeling and emotion have more force and depth than thought. Feeling and emotion coupled with the intellect is powerful. Feeling is a finer subtler mental mode than both emotion and thought, and usually on a higher level. Feeling is not emotion, although it may be intermixed with it. Feeling is more aligned with compassion and love than emotion, while emotion is more robust forceful and motivational. Emotion is often reaction that is negative, and aligned with desire and fear and their offshoots, such as attachment anger lust greed and so on. There are endless shades of feeling. Feeling is the mental mode most aligned with Oneness Truth and is the last to dissolve before annihilation of the mind that is Liberation from all ignorance and illusion.

Ideation that springs from the intellect is based on reason and understanding.

The intellect is: the cognitive faculty of reason and conceptual understanding and knowing; and the capacity for rational and intelligent thought, especially when highly developed.

Thought is powerful.

One thought creates and projects eons and endless universes in endless spacetime.

One thought creates and projects the ego-I and all illusion.

One thought veils the One, like a cloud that covers the bright disc of the sun.

One thought immerses one in the dark depths of misery, while another lifts one to the heights.

Thought seems to divide the One indivisible, but this an illusion.

Thought weaves the web of illusion.

Thought is time in a conceived space.

Thought is based on memory, the past.

Thought comes from the illusory past and looks to the illusive future.

Thought is as ephemeral as a snowflake on the palm of a hand.

Thought springs from the ego I-thought that is the primary or root thought.

Thought has ego and form and name.

Thought creates masks and boundaries.

Thought creates and determines experience and the world.

Thought is a force for good or bad.

Thought appears and disappears in Consciousness.

Thought has form, while Consciousness is formless.

Thought is finite, while Consciousness is infinite.

Thought is illusion, while Consciousness is Reality.

The mind is a vast world of illusion created and projected by thought.

The mind is the one and only miracle and the ultimate magic show.

The mind is spacious like vast space.

The mind facing in all directions is everywhere and everything.

The mind is desire—the mind without desire is no mind.

The mind is the world and the world the mind.

The mind is a stream of thought and ever-changing.

Thought keeps all in a mental trance.

The mind has modes and levels and planes and dimensions and countless states and moods.

The mind is in continuous motion as impressions and inclinations and reactions and associative cognition.

The mind is the creator sustainer and destroyer of everything and all that seems to be or exist.

Everything and all that seems to be or exist is a creation and projection of the mind that is sustained and destroyed by thought.

Countless worlds spring from thought and are sustained and destroyed by thought.

The mind has unrivaled power of creation and destruction.

Creation and destruction are the way of the mind and world—what the mind and world create, the mind and world destroy.

The mind creates and projects God above and other.

The mind creates and projects Satan.

The mind creates laws to govern and thereby protect and control.

The mind creates and projects endless variation as countless forms qualities experiences and so on.

The mind creates and projects countless opposites and endless shades of relativity.

The mind is a demon of differentiation and division that creates the illusion of separation.

The mind though subjective objectifies analyses labels and organizes.

The mind is either inclined toward order or chaos.

The mind is individual and personal though based on universal impersonal cognitive dynamics.

The mind is a dreamer dreaming a dream, spinning a tale, weaving the web of illusion.

The mind is the ultimate miracle as it creates and projects all ignorance and illusion.

The mind is a mere illusory appearance in and a superimposition on Consciousness.

The mind in motion is illusion and when motionless, absolute Consciousness.

The mind turned outward is the ego body world cosmos and turned inward, absolute Consciousness.

The mind is a zero and creates endless zeros in Oneness Consciousness.

As we think, so we become, and the world mirrors what we think and feel.

Positive thinking creates positive experience and negative thinking creates negative experience.

What we accept or reject determines the quality and tenor of our experience.

All live in the world according to preconceived ideas and beliefs.

All live in their own individual world and reality—all live in their own sphere, encapsulated in a bubble of illusion.

All mental modes of the mind are an illusion.

All mental modes are imaginary states of the mind and an illusion and a zero and nothing.

There are three primary mental modes in Consciousness: simple awareness of thoughts and perceptions; being engaged with but unattached to thoughts and perceptions; being identified with thought and perceptions.

Instinct intellect inspiration intuition insight and illumination are modes of the mind, in an ascending order of fineness, that spring from the I-thought.

Insight is finer than intuition and intuition is finer than inspiration, but illumination surpasses insight, as it is a perpetual state of insight and the highest and most refined mental state possible. Both insight and illumination alone exist in the pure / enlightened mind.

Instinct is the densest mental mode and the intellect that is higher than instinct brings one into the rational sphere of logic and reasoning that is fundamental to civilization and science, but it is inspiration that enlivens and elevates the intellect. From inspiration, in an ascending order, follow intuition and insight and illumination that lead to transcendent Realization beyond the mind.

Realization is not a mental mode or state and is transcendent of the mind as Reality Experience / Self Knowledge.

Realization is the annihilation of the mind and all imagination ignorance and illusion.

The mind is Maya.

Everything is an illusory emanation of Maya mind and happens by the Power and Will of Maya.

The infinitude is a mirage, and all experience an illusion created and projected by Maya mind.

Everything is the mind. Everything is Maya. Everything is an illusion. Everything is a zero and nothing.

The fulfillment of the mind's destiny is in its annihilation.

The aim and culmination of Creation is the annihilation of the mind and all illusion, and the Realization of Reality—the One Self.

It is the human being who turns within to the One Light of Consciousness that is the infinite eternal One Self. This turning within is the spiritual path and journey that is the gradual dissolution of the ego mind in an ascending order of finer purer mental grades and levels, leading to the annihilation of the ego mind and the full unveiling of Consciousness as the One Reality and Self. The annihilation of the ego mind is Waking from the Dream of Maya and Liberation from all ignorance and illusion.

The mind comes into existence in order to be annihilated—annihilation of the mind is preordained. At some point the mind surrenders to its preordained annihilation to rise as the Phoenix of absolute Consciousness, the darkness of delusion and illusion vanishing in the limitless One Light of Reality.

The mind like a bubble in the boundless Ocean of Consciousness is pierced by Oneness Grace and instantaneously vanishes. Maya and all illusion vanish with the annihilation of the mind, but Consciousness ever Is.

There is no Liberation from ignorance and illusion without Realization of one's real Identity. There is no real fulfillment and completion without Realization of one's eternal Nature. There is no Reality Experience / Self Realization without the annihilation of the mind. And foremost there is no Realization and Liberation without the Grace of the One.

The annihilation of the mind is Liberation that is transcendent Realization and alone bestowed by Oneness Grace. Liberation is to be esteemed above all else, for in the dissolution of the mind the One Self Shines in absolute Fullness and Freedom.

It alone is Oneness Grace that Awakens and Liberates all from ignorance and illusion.

Insight is divine thought.

Insight is a mental mode that is a clear pointer to Oneness Truth.

Insight aligned with Oneness Truth is pure / enlightened mental experience.

Insight penetrates and clearly sees and precisely knows in an instant.

Insight suddenly appears like a light turned on in the dark.

Insight of any sort is a clear certain knowing via pure subtle thought.

Insight can see into anything and everything.

Insight confirms the truths we have faith in.

Insight is essential for spiritual clarity that is dynamic.

Insight opens doors to keen and vast spiritual comprehension and purifies and elevates the intellect.

Insight is aligned with wisdom—true wisdom is founded on insight and illumination.

Insight is finer than intuition and intuition is finer than inspiration, but illumination surpasses insight, as illumination is perpetual insight as divine feeling that is the highest most refined mental state possible. Both insight and illumination alone exist in the pure / enlightened mind.

Illumination transcends thought, while insight is pure thought that is divine.

Illumination is divine feeling on the highest mental plane.

Instinct is the densest mental mode and the intellect that is higher than instinct brings one into the rational sphere of logic and reasoning that is fundamental to civilization and science. But it is inspiration that enlivens and elevates the intellect. From inspiration, in an ascending order, follow intuition and insight and illumination that lead to Realization transcendent of the mind.

The ego veils the One Self.

The ego is the Veil of illusion and Shadow of the One.

The ego has a beginning and an end in illusion.

The ego is the finite false I that veils the One Self that is the infinite real I.

The ego must go for the One Self to fully Shine, unveiled.

The ego is ignorance in illusion and a zero and nothing.

The ego is the original primal lie from which all other lies spring.

The ego is the knot that ties the body to the mind.

The ego rules the world via the five bodily senses and the sixth sense that is the mind extended endlessly in all directions.

The ego is invasive and inclined to leave its imprint on everything thus tainting all that it touches.

The ego and mind are one and the same.

The ego is mere fiction.

The ego created by thought is an abstract mental construct.

The ego is a mental abstraction and a protracted contraction.

The ego is a powerful creation and projection of the mind that is sustained by memory.

The ego is a dynamic thought-form, like a ghostly existence.

The ego is a false identity that springs from erroneous assumption and belief.

The pretentious portentous ego is both an assumption and presumption.

The ego is the underlying force of thought.

All thought has ego.

The ego has unrivaled power of creation and destruction as thought.

The ego is based on the illusory past—memory—looking toward the elusive future.

The ego is a mere mental construct that seemingly has a life of its own.

The ego is the I-thought.

The primary I-thought is the original and root thought from which all other thoughts spring. This dominant I-thought is the ego and driven by the ego. When the ego I-thought ceases all thought ceases along with it, as well as the body mind world cosmos.

With the dissolution of the I-thought the ego vanishes, and along with it the body mind world cosmos.

Seek the source of the I-thought and it vanishes in its Source—Consciousness—that is ever transcendent of the ego body mind.

The ego is the false I that is the I-me-mine and I-you-it.

The ego I-me-mine is an absolute fixation.

The ego is cultivated and magnified by thought, thus thought can never eliminate the ego that is the I-thought.

The ego is based on identification with the body.

The ego is I am the body identification that springs from ignorance and creates and sustains the illusion of separation.

Identification with a form or body is universal in the realm of illusion.

The ego that has no form takes the body as its own and flourishes thereby.

The ego is imaginary and a mere formulation that subsists on form.

The ego is active in the world for the sake of the body.

The ego as body identity keeps all bound by desire and fear.

The ego as body identity is conditioned and limited.

The ego is the driving force of the body and the axis of the mind and all ignorance.

The ego as intention drives the body and creates life and living in the world.

Drop the ego and the world vanishes.

The ego is the primary agent of all experience.

The ego is the doer and owner.

The ego is the game of life.

The ego idolizes itself.

The ego has a story and history and is engrossed in and defined by it.

The ego seeks name and fame.

The ego is deeply attached to identity self-image and self-esteem.

The ego defines itself as inferior or superior or equal to others.

The ego is the superior authoritarian.

The ego is the critic and judge and assumes itself as righteous.

The ego may be good or bad or both and is ever tainted by differentiation.

The ego is a slave of desire and a captive of fear.

The ego is its own fortress in the world.

The ego is the controller and dictator.

The ego is the conqueror and victor.

The ego seeks survival security and conquest.

The ego creates boundaries and walls to wage its perpetual battle of offense and defense.

The ego is devoted to self-improvement and given over to self-help programs.

The ego adopts attitudes personas and roles—such as leader martyr hero rebel victim peacemaker and so on.

The ego is ever the rationalizer.

The ego is the ultimate lie and liar.

The ego is Satan.

The ego is the root of all vice misery and suffering.

The ego keeps the world of illusion spinning.

The aim and goal of the ego is final victory.

The ego resists egoless Presence.

The ego ever hungry for justification and victory resists the egoless thought-free Now.

Upon reaching a point of insight by the Grace of the One, belief and faith in the ego-I falters and we turn from the darkness of ignorance to the Light of the One Self.

The ego is mere fiction.

When ignorance is recognized for what it is, when the illusion of the ego is discerned, when the ego is clearly seen as an imposter, our real Identity as absolute Consciousness—One Self—is realized.

Unlike the ego the Self has no story or history and is ever the immortal Unborn and Uncreated that is transcendent Oneness Reality.

The transcendent One Self is purposeless Perfection. It alone is the ego that has purpose motive intention and aim, with final victory as its goal. But victory is never final as life offers only change and limits.

Insight into the nature of the ego can solve all puzzles, unravel all tangles, and unburden unbind and free one.

When the ego is ignored it dwindles and dies.

It is imperative not to believe in or bow to the ego.

Life and living in alignment with Oneness Truth, Frees us from the ego and all ignorance and illusion.

Go to the Source of the ego—Consciousness—to find it nonexistent.

Be at the One Source—Consciousness—and the ego dissolves in It.

Introvert the mind and it dissolves in its source—Consciousness—with the ego along with it.

The ego appears and disappears in Consciousness, the One Self.

Consciousness—the One Self and Reality—is egoless and transcendent of the mind.

Mere Being is the egoless stateless State of Oneness.

The ultimate and preordained destiny of the ego is final surrender to its primal nonexistence by way of Grace that is the Power of the One.

When we realize that we have no real power or volition and that all is in the Perfect Hands of the One Power that is Grace, we surrender to/as Oneness, and our dissolution is the unveiling of That which ever Is Here and Now.

The dissolution of the ego is the unveiling of the One Self Maya is the Almighty Creator.

Maya is the Creator of the Grand Illusion.

Maya—the Power of the One—is the Almighty Creator of all illusion, and the principle of ignorance that makes illusion and the false seem real and true. Everything happens and is predetermined by the One Power and Will of Maya.

The emergence and dissolution of the Creation is Maya's Dream that is the play of ignorance in illusion.

Maya is the Creator of a zero.

Everything is an illusion and nonexistent.

Maya is the Almighty Creator of the infinitude that is the cosmos and everything and all that seems to be or exist.

Maya is the Cosmic Intelligence in charge of the infinitude.

Maya's Play Toys are everything and all that seems to be or exist.

Maya is a prodigious display of endless variation.

Maya is everything that changes—everything is Maya.

Maya's illusory Creation is the Dream of Maya we are dreaming.

Maya is the Master Illusionist.

Maya is the Power of the One that creates illusion and ignorance and thus the Ultimate Mystery.

Maya is the Magic Show and Cosmic Joke of the One.

Maya is the illusive Magician conjuring tricks and illusions that seem real.

Maya has all hypnotized and under Its Spell—Maya has all fixated in fascination.

Maya is the Creator and Projector of the infinitude onto the limitless Screen of Consciousness.

Maya is the Creator and Projector of all illusion delusion ignorance imagination and falsity.

Maya is the origin of the ego mind and its projecting and veiling power.

Maya and the ego mind are coordinate and conjunct as one. When Maya appears, the ego mind and everything and all that seems to be or exist also appears, and when the ego mind disappears, Maya and everything and all that seems to be or exist vanishes along with it—Maya and the ego mind rise and fall as one.

Another name for the ego mind is Maya.

Maya mind deludes the entire world and is the Veil of illusion that obscures Reality.

Maya mind and the infinitude are the Veil of illusion and Shadow of the One.

Maya's limitless Imagination as the illusory infinitude is but a dream.

Maya's illusory infinitude is the play of diversity in duality as differentiation division and separation in the form of opposites that define each other and are ever relative in dynamic coexistence.

Some of the major players are: reality-illusion infinite-finite subject-object knowledge-ignorance positive-negative attraction-repulsion good-bad right-wrong and so on.

Maya brings into existence an endless multiplicity of forms and formulations that are but an illusion and nothing.

Maya is a monumental lusty thrust to Infinity based on forms generating and consuming other forms.

Maya creates endless variations of relationship within the expanding and contracting space of separation, ever fixated on beginnings and endings.

Maya is relentless change as growth evolution involution transition alteration modification mutation conversion transformation metamorphosis ascension and so on.

Maya is ever spinning and spiraling illusion, ever tracing circles and circles within circles, ever projecting spheres and spheres within spheres.

Maya in unfathomable.

Maya and the One Reality will ever be a mystery for the mind.

The epic vast grandeur and intricate play of Maya is beyond comprehension and imagination.

Maya envisioned is a vision that renders one stunned in absolute awe yet falls short of the full import and magnitude of Maya.

Our experience of the one totality that is the endless infinitude is infinitesimal.

It is hard to reason or imagine how something so seemingly real as the body mind world cosmos is but an illusion and nonexistent.

Everything is programmed and predetermined by Maya.

Everything happens as one interconnected intermixed totality by the One Power and Will of Maya.

Not a single leaf or hand or cloud or particle or thought happens and moves without the One Power and Will of Maya.

Whatever infinitesimal iota or intake of air or beat of the heart or blink of the eye or action or attainment or loss or power—whatever comes to or proceeds from us—is Maya.

There is no volition no real choice or option no individual personal power or will—there is only the One Power and Will of Maya.

All that we experience is Maya—all that happens is Maya.

To know something / anything is to know Maya.

Everything and all that seems to be or exist can be traced to Maya.

All that appears and disappears is Maya. You and these words you are reading are Maya. Any explanation of Maya is Maya. Everything that appears to be real but is not is Maya. Maya is the Grand Illusion that astounds and confounds yet is but a zero and nothing.

The ego is Maya the mind is Maya the body is Maya the world is Maya the cosmos is Maya both the good and bad are Maya all experience is Maya all we see is Maya all we hear is Maya all we do is Maya all we believe is Maya everything is Maya.

Maya vanishes in the absolute Silence of the One Reality.

Maya vanishes with the annihilation of the ego mind.

Maya mind when searched for is found to be nonexistent.

Thought when searched for is found to be nonexistent—in any existential search nothing is to be found but the limitless Silence of absolute Consciousness.

Maya is the Magic Show of the One.

All men women and children heaven and hell the world the sky above the seeker and devotee all Avatars all angels and demons all gods and goddesses the cosmic forces stars moons planets galaxies universes all dimensions particles vibrations all prayers and working hands and seeing eyes all the eons of time and God above and other all that is visible and invisible all sound and impacts the body and beating heart and breathing entity all inspiration and aspiration all action and inaction all summits and declines all light and darkness all victories all hope all experience all that happens all that seems to be or exist is Maya and but a dream mere imagination an illusion and a zero and nothing.

Only for those with Reality Experience transcendent of Maya mind is it crystal clear what is illusion and false and what is real and true.

Only those who Know everything to be the work of illusion, see yet do not see, hear yet do not hear, and are the Bliss of transcendent Freedom.

Only those who ever abide in the absolute Silence of Reality are transcendent of Maya mind and all ignorance and illusion.

Maya's Grand Illusion

Maya

is the Power of the One

and

the Almighty Creator

of

the Grand Illusion

seemingly existent

nonexistent.

The body is the Shadow of the One.

The body is inert and never says I AM.

The body cannot exist apart from the One Self—absolute Consciousness.

The body has form and is matter / energy that is temporal and limited.

The body is the instrument for functioning in the world.

The body is born and changes and dies.

The body is a finite organism and like all organic matter deteriorates and dies.

The human body is crowned with the brain coexistent with the mind. The brain is the center of the nervous system where the electronic impulses that create thought are contained and the body mind and environment are coordinated and where the Spirit of life and living fundamentally springs. The human is the Crown of Creation and it is from the brain / mind that the Creation springs and is projected.

The heart is the center and force of life in the body; the lungs breathing universal air in and out of the body are the breath of life and coordinate with the mind that is the sixth sense extending endlessly in all directions like the wind; and the belly of fire is the body's demand for the intake of water and the fruits of the earth, as food is life.

With a loss of blood there is potential loss of life and with a lack of air there is potential loss of life and with a lack of water and nutriment there is potential loss of life—the Spirit of Life resides in the heart and lungs and belly coordinated and controlled by the brain / mind.

The five senses of the body are the vehicle for perception, as is the sixth sense that is the cognitive part of the brain. The eyes see, ears hear, nose smells, tongue tastes, skin feels, and the brain perceives thought and all that comprises the mind. All perception—sensory and cognitive—is taken hold of by thought as experience.

A physical sensory activation of a sensory organ and its nerve impulse signaling information to the brain that is processed as image sound smell taste or touch becomes perception that is mental experience. It is vibrations chemicals and molecules that activate the five sensory organs.

The body is composed of the five essential elements—earth water fire air ether—that form the five sensory organs and their respective sensations.

The body is a reflection of the cosmos—the body is made of stars and oceans and so on. The body and cosmos are coexistent and interconnected intermixed as one.

The ego body mind world cosmos appears and disappears as one in the continuum of Consciousness and is an illusory superimposition.

The body does not exist apart from the world and cosmos and the body world cosmos does not exist apart from the ego mind which does not exist apart from Consciousness. There is nothing apart from Consciousness—Consciousness is the One Source Substratum Substance of everything and all that seems to be or exist. Consciousness alone ever Is.

Life and living are based on: obtaining water and food and preparing and consuming it; the protection and maintenance of the body and family; mating and caring for offspring and family. Humans are biologically programmed to survive thus security is an issue for most due to the inherited drive for both physical and psychological survival.

Nature is a food chain that is the energy source for all species of life—forms consume other forms for energy sustenance and life.

The food chain exists in the gross material sphere, although there is subtle energy consumption and transformation on all levels of cosmic existence.

Killing/destroying for consumption to sustain life is the fundamental basis of sentient life. It is impossible to be truly nonviolent in life—merely breathing destroys. Life is creation and preservation and destruction.

All humans are uniquely genetically programmed and individual.

Everyone has a thumbprint that is uniquely individual and unlike any other. Everybody is individual and unique and a reflection of the endless diversity and variation of the infinitude. There is no one exactly the same as another.

An individual's genes / DNA changes over time.

Everything changes on all levels in all ways.

The body is assumed as our primary identity, along with the ego mind.

Body-identity is mortality and ignorance in illusion.

If the body is assumed as the self and real, the world and cosmos are external separate and real.

When we take the body to be real and identify with it then there is a multiplicity of individuals and forms in the world, but when we recognize the body to be unreal then everything and all that seems to be or exist is an illusory superimposition on Oneness Consciousness—the immortal One Self.

We are not the body nor is the body ours, nor are we the doer or enjoyer—we are the Unborn Self that is the One Witness Seer of everything and all that seems to be or exist.

Attachment to the body and sense objects is the basis of life for most, both which are sources of pleasure and pain.

Self-image based on the body is idolatry. The widely prevalent cultivation of self-image is based on the desire for attention acceptance security and esteem.

The world idolizes the body and creates idols of all sorts, ever enmeshed in idolatry and superstition. Idolatry and superstition are ingrained and embedded in culture and society—we live conditioned in a conditioned world.

The body is finite limited and mortal and can never experience the infinite limitless formless One Reality and Self—Consciousness.

The body is made evident possible and sentient by Consciousness.

The body appears and disappears in Consciousness.

The body is an illusory superimposition on Consciousness.

Absolute Consciousness is the One Self and Reality, while the body and all forms are an illusion and a zero and nothing.

The existence or nonexistence of form makes no difference to the formless there is no ego body mind world cosmos in deep sleep or Reality.

One Self—

Detach from the body—

Be ever Here in the eternal Now

of

Oneness

Consciousness.

Humans have three illusory bodies.

Each individual is one living unit with three coexistent bodies / forms that perform their respective functions in coordination and harmony with each other.

We have three bodies: the gross / physical body and the subtle / energy body and the mental / causal body. These three bodies are coexistent coordinate interconnected and appear and disappear as one. All three are the Veil of illusion and Shadow of the One and a zero and nothing. All three are a illusory superimposition on Oneness Consciousness and pervaded by Consciousness.

The gross body is the densest veil, and the subtle body is a finer veil, and the mental body is the finest veil. The One Light of Consciousness Shines through the gross veil the least, and the subtle veil more, and the mental veil the most, to the point that some who are on a pure / enlightened mental plane think / feel they are Realized but in actuality are still connected with the I-thought and mental body. Only when the mind is annihilated does the Veil of illusion vanish and Oneness Consciousness Shine, unveiled.

All humans are full but veiled Consciousness, and all have a gross body and a subtle body and a mental body. Most identify primarily with the gross body and also the mind; and some do not identify with the gross body but with the subtle body and the mind; and a few identify only with the mental body that is the pure enlightened mind. And a rare one does not identify with a body or the mind but with the formless One Self that is absolute Consciousness.

The three bodies have their respective three worlds in ascending planes of experience that are a mind creation projected onto the Screen of Consciousness. Everything is Maya mind—all is Maya's Dream.

Identification with the gross body and gross world is dense experience; identification with the subtle body and subtle world is subtle experience; and identification with the mental body and mental world is divine experience.

Oneness Consciousness alone is absolute Experience as Self Knowledge that is Reality Experience transcendent of these three bodies and their worlds.

The gross body is inert and dense.

The gross body is a reflection of the cosmos and made of the five essential elements—earth water fire air ether—and the stars and oceans and so on. The gross body is a splendid structure mechanism and tool for the human creative spirit and its deep and profound urge to know and experience.

The gross body's brain and nervous system is a medium for Self Realization and Reality Experience.

Neuroscientists have found that the brain becomes hyper-connected that regions of the brain that normally have little to do with each other become linked in heightened pure states of mind akin to Oneness Experience.

Scientists do not know what Consciousness is and where it comes from and they never will because Consciousness is formless and nonmaterial and not an object that can be observed and measured.

The gross body is made of matter and is inert dense limited and temporal. The body is born changes deteriorates and dies and is the medium for sensory experience and the vehicle for life and living. Most identify their existence and sense of self with the gross body that is uniquely individual.

There is no thumbprint in existence that is exactly the same as another. Everybody is individual and unique and a reflection of the nature of the infinitude—infinite variation and differentiation.

The body is dependent on air and water and nutriments and protection from the elements for its survival. The primary focus of those whose identity is the gross body is on the protection and maintenance of the body and also sex and reproduction. The body is biologically and genetically programmed.

The body is confined and limited by its natural properties—it comes it lingers awhile and then it goes, but the One Self ever Is.

The body mind world cosmos is interconnected as one. The brain body world cosmos is in the mind and the mind is in Consciousness.

The body is not evident or possible without Consciousness, nor is it apart from Consciousness.

Experience of the gross world is dense.

The gross body and world are based on dual subject-object relativity and are an illusion and a zero and nothing.

The subtle body is the link between the gross and mental bodies.

The subtle body is finer and less limited than the gross body. The subtle body is an energetic form and structure that is the manifestation of mental impressions inclinations and desires, thus also called the desire body. The subtle body is a vital force and powerful energy that imbues the gross body with the force of life.

The subtle body is connected with the gross nervous system and brain / mind and has three main energy channels—nadi—running along both sides of the spine and along the spine itself on up into the brain to the top of the head, through which vital force / subtle energy flows; this energy also flows through a network of connecting channels. There are seven concentrated points along the central nadi that are called chakras. It is in this chakra channel that the subtle kundalini energy runs.

The subtle body also has five internal subtle senses that correspond with the five external senses of the gross body that far surpass gross sensory experience in brilliance beauty and intricacy. Subtle experience is magnified and immensely blissful and powerful.

The term kundalini stems from yogic philosophy and is defined as an indwelling shakti—power/energy—that can be awakened to purify the body mind and ultimately terminate in Union with the One Absolute.

Kundalini energy is described as dormant potential power coiled at the base of the spine like a sleeping serpent and its awakening as an ascending movement along the central channel up to the Crown chakra located at the top of the head, to permanently reside there. Various yoga systems practice meditation mantra breathing and posture exercises to awaken kundalini energy.

Those identified with the subtle body and stationed in the subtle world have a vast command of energy / power and are able to perform supernatural acts and miracles. Some bring others to their level. All are disassociated from the gross body and world but still associated with the ego I-thought and the mind and desire, so must beware of misusing their tremendous power.

Identification with the subtle body and world is a turning within to the limitless One Light of Consciousness and is the beginning of the dissolution of the ego mind.

Experience of the subtle world is supernatural. There are differing planes of experience in the subtle world.

The subtle body and world are based on dual subject-object relativity and are an illusion and a zero and nothing.

The astral body is the link between the gross body and the subtle body.

Only those identified with the gross body and world experience the astral body and world. The astral sphere is like an imprint of the subtle over the gross, but neither gross or subtle.

Some recollect dreams that are astral world based and some are conscious of the astral body and world and astral-project. Those who experience the near death of the body enter the astral world for a brief time. Heaven and hell are experienced in the astral world but are temporary experiences.

The astral body and world are based on dual subject-object relativity and are an illusion and a zero and nothing.

The mental body is the seat of the mind.

The mental body is also called the causal or desire body because it stores the seeds—causes—of all desires.

The mental body is the storehouse / reservoir of all latent impressions and inclinations and desires that determine the overall state and quality of the mind that is continuously being directed and modified by them, all the while accruing new impressions. This dynamic creates repetitive action and reaction that automatically keeps the Wheel of Karma revolving.

Impressions are imprints akin to genes.

The actual manifestation of impressions inclinations and desires takes place in the subtle body and is expressed via the gross body and the brain / mind. If there are no impressions, there is no ego body mind world cosmos and That which alone ever Is Shines.

Impressions determine the qualities of the ego body mind and life experience as a whole and they determine which body we associate and identify with—gross or subtle or mental.

Those identified with the mental body and world are dissociated from both the gross and subtle bodies and worlds. They experience the high mental level of the pure / enlightened mind and the inner planes of the mental world.

These are the enlightened and illumined ones who have full mastery of and command of the mind and heart. Their mind and heart are pure and in alignment with Oneness Truth and although they have complete control of desire, they are not desireless as the One. The I-thought is minimal, and their actions are essentially selfless and mind and heart divine. They behold Oneness everywhere yet still identified with the mind do not Experience the One Absolute as their real Identity. They are able to read the minds and hearts of others and some bring others to their high level.

The mental world is one of mastery and is the zenith of divine experience.

The mental body and world are based on dual subject-object relativity and are an illusion and a zero and nothing.

The One Self is formless and Free.

So long as there is misidentification with a body and the mind, ignorance in illusion will prevail and obstruct Realization of our real Identity as the formless transcendent One Self and Reality that is absolute Freedom and only when the mind is annihilated is there Liberation from all ignorance and illusion.

It alone is Oneness Grace that Awakens and Liberates all from ignorance and illusion.

The eternal One infinite the timeless Now of Oneness Perfection.

Deep sleep and waking and dreaming are three revolving states we experience each day.

There also is a fourth stateless State that is the transcendent One Witness Seer that is referred to as wakeful sleep since, as in deep sleep, there is no ego body mind world cosmos. The Witness Seer is the transcendent One Light of Awareness that Sees everything and all that seems to be or exist.

In deep sleep there is no I-me-mine or body mind world cosmos—deep sleep is the Emptiness of pure Existence, but unaware. Sleep comes when the body is tired and the mind weary or quiescent. Sleep is key for rest healing rejuvenation and fleeting freedom. In deep sleep one loses one's false identity and returns unconsciously to the Bliss of the One Self. All welcome and happily fall into the peace and freedom of deep sleep.

When mental impressions stir one to wake to the conscious awake state that is life and living as the I-me-mine in the world, the deep sleep and dreaming states dissolve—and thus rest and activity alternate in the revolving waking and dreaming and deep sleep states that appear and disappear in the Light of the One Witness Seer.

The dream state involuntarily occurs at various intervals of sleep when the subtle and mental bodies are active, although the gross body is unconscious. In the dream state when the body is unconscious there is no contact with the external world, but the ego mind is active in an obscure way. Similarly, in the waking state the ego mind is active but projected outward as the body world cosmos. Dreaming is a dream within the dream that is the waking state. All is the Dream of Maya and an illusion and a zero and nothing.

It is mental impressions that project the three revolving states—waking and deep sleep and dreaming—onto the Screen of Consciousness that is the One Witness Seer and fourth stateless State.

When dreaming we wander about in a dream-body but when we wake from dreaming, where is the dream-body? Likewise, when we Wake from the Dream of life and living, where is the ego body mind world cosmos?

In deep sleep when the body is unconscious and the ego mind absent and reduced to its causal state, nothing exists. This is proof that one's relative existence is an illusory creation and projection of the mind and that the ego body world cosmos alone exists in the mind and is projected externally in the waking state.

In deep sleep there is no ego mind and in the fourth stateless State there is no ego mind—this proves that the ego mind and its creations and projections are all unreal.

In both deep sleep and the stateless State that is the One Witness Seer there is no ego body mind world cosmos. All that has form and name is but a concept and an illusion and a zero and nothing.

The deep sleep and waking and dream states do not exist in Oneness Reality.

Time is relative.

Time is relative and inferred by the movement of objects in space, such as the sun in relation to the earth.

Time is the movement of thought in a conceived space.

Time is an illusory abstract mental construct created by thought and projected onto the Screen of Consciousness.

The movement of thought is time and ephemeral.

Stopping thought is stopping time.

Thought is time and the ego rising from Consciousness.

The ego and thought spring from the illusory past and look to an illusive future.

Thought ever remembers the past that is but an illusion and imagines the future that is but an illusion, while the fleeting present is the past in an instant.

Everything and all that seems to be or exist is transient and ever changing and like time ever fleeting.

Everyone lives in/for time and that which is ever changing and but an illusion and a zero and nothing.

Time is an illusion that dissolves in the ever present Here and Now.

Space is emptiness.

Space is the empty expanse in which objects change and move.

Space is emptiness and the coordinate relative to moving objects that are time.

Space as spacetime is a four-dimensional continuum, and as physical space it is three-dimensional.

Space—time's coordinate—is an illusion but the clearest finest reflection of limitless Oneness.

Space associated with an expanse such as the sky is limitless spaciousness.

Space is an absence, like the space between two thoughts.

Space is homogeneous though it curves and is fluid.

Space is an abstract mental construct and an illusory apperception and experience.

Space is pervaded by Consciousness but does not pervade Consciousness.

Space like time is in the illusory mind, while Consciousness is all pervading yet transcendent.

Death is the Great Dissolution that is but an illusion.

Death is the ultimate golden opportunity as in death all beings return to their Source—the One Absolute. All that emerges from the One Source returns, like all rivers run to the sea, all rivers flow to their ultimate destination, the ocean.

Death is the great leveler—death is the great equalizer. All lose all that they possess in death. Dust to dust, ashes to ashes is the final image and message of death.

Death entails the absolute release of the body and the dissolution of the persona and is the ultimate golden opportunity for certain instant Liberation from the ego mind and all ignorance and illusion.

Death is a radical surrender to the Unknown that is Liberation from the known. That which is known is transient and illusory, while the One Unknown is the transcendent One Reality and Self.

The mortal false I perishes to arise from the ashes as the immortal Phoenix that is the real and Shining One I, unveiled. Upon death all Wake from the dream of mortality to the immortal One Self that is the Unborn and Uncreated. All are Liberated from Maya and all ignorance and illusion by Grace.

All—no matter what conditions or state of mind at death—dissolve in the One Absolute by way of Oneness Grace. All Realize the Immortal Self upon the death of the body—all are Liberated as transcendent Oneness Freedom.

If there is attachment at the instant of death, spontaneous purification dissolves all impressions and desires in an instant, just as water in a mirage in the desert vanishes upon close inspection.

The death and dissolution of all illusion is to be celebrated—birth and life and death are all the illusory Dream of Maya. It is Grace that Awakens and Liberates all at death from all ignorance and illusion.

We are born into illusion and die to illusion upon death. All are Liberated upon death, yet we celebrate birth and mourn death in our ignorance in illusion.

Death is a delusion that comes from identifying the I with the mortal body—the ego takes transient flesh as I and veils the Unborn, the One Self.

Death and birth and life pertain only to the body and not to the Self. The false identity as the ego body mind dies with the death of the body.

Some intuit or Know their immortality and never feel the shadow of death in their lives, but those who identify with and are attached to the mortal body feel the shadow of death and fear it, for death is their demise.

Dying may involve physical pain but this pain and suffering is an opportunity for detachment and disassociation from the body and persona during the death process.

Throughout life we experience mini deaths of all sorts. A spiritual practice for some is to practice death in life that entails a loss of ego or a shift that is a turning to the One Light or even the annihilation of the ego mind that is Liberation.

Some do not fear death because of faith or a conviction that heaven awaits them upon death. This faith or conviction of heaven is aligned with Oneness Truth that is the Heaven of Oneness Perfection. But the heaven that is the opposite of hell is an ego mind creation and projection that is ignorance in illusion.

Those who identify with Spirit welcome death as ascension or transcendence or even annihilation in the One Absolute. And those who believe in reincarnation do not ponder death or fear it, as another body and life await them in their future.

Reincarnation / transmigration is the belief in the false ego I as a prolonged extension in spacetime as rebirth in a body. The ego, identified with and attached to the body, deeply passionately desires personal victory—victory over death and its enemies and victory in another life via reincarnation.

In the one interconnected intermixed totality that is the infinitude there exists an endlessly vast immensely complex universal collective memory of all lives over endless spacetime. And there are those who knowingly or unknowingly tap into this vast collective memory and accrue mental impressions that come to life in a dynamic energetic way so that the individual assumes and imagines that this experience is a personal past or future life, and from the standpoint that we are all the one totality this is correct, but to claim it as mine is incorrect.

There is no individual personal reincarnation as such, but there is one incarnation as one individual facet of the totality that is mine.

We are either all or none of the infinitude—everything or nothing—but essentially both these stances spring from ignorance in illusion. The eternal One infinite alone Exists, and the one interconnected totality is Its Shadow and a zero and nothing—the infinitude is but an illusory superimposition and a passing dream.

Everything is an imaginary and illusory creation and projection of the ego mind, including the belief in individual personal reincarnation held by many over time but still to be relegated to ignorance in illusion like all other beliefs and assumptions.

There is no birth or rebirth, nor is there death—all beginnings and endings are an illusion.

We are the One Self, Unborn and Uncreated. Embodiment individuality and personhood are an illusion that appears and disappears in Oneness Consciousness. Birth is the illusory emergence from the One Source and death the return and an illusory superimposition on Oneness Consciousness.

All are essentially innocent and blameless in ignorance. All Wake from Maya's Dream, all are Liberated by Oneness Grace, having had no real power volition choice or option in life. Everything is an illusion in the Grand Illusion, everything is an illusory appearance that dissolves into the zero and nothing that it is.

Death is an illusion as are birth and life—

all live in a web of illusion until death's Great Dissolution that too is but an illusion

and a zero and nothing.

The One Absolute Reality

the

Immortal One Self

Here

the

Eternal Now

of Oneness Perfection.

The infinitude is the Grand Illusion that is but a zero.

The infinitude springs from a zero-dimension point that is infinitesimally finite and expands endlessly as illusion.

The infinitude is fundamentally unified and superficially diversified and is one interconnected totality with everything absolutely relative to the point of being canceled and a zero.

The infinitude is one interconnected intermixed totality that is an obscure reflection of Oneness in the Mirror of Consciousness.

The infinitude is the Grand Illusion that is the Creation of Maya mind and a superimposition on Consciousness. Maya is the limitless Power of the One that creates illusion. Maya is the Almighty Creator and Cosmic Intelligence in charge of the infinitude.

The infinitude is Maya's Dream and but an illusion and a zero and nothing.

The infinitude is a mind creation projected onto the limitless Screen of Consciousness, like a 3D movie, and but an illusion and a zero and nothing.

Maya—the Power of the One—creates a zero in conjunction with the mind that too is a zero and nothing.

The infinitude is endless energy that is never created or destroyed. Energy has form as various differing energies and matter and is mutable and vibratory and but an illusion and a zero and nothing.

Everything is energy—energy is everywhere, even in a vacuum.

Energy is a property of all objects—transferable by fundamental interactions—and can be converted into different forms of energy but cannot be created or destroyed. All the various forms of energy exhibit mass. Energy is the building block of matter. The quantity of matter in ratio to empty space is minute—the material universe is barely material.

The endless energy of the infinitude is not to be confused with the limitless Power of the One, just as the fineness and imperceptibility of thought is not to be confused with Consciousness. Energy is illusion and Oneness Power is Reality.

The infinitude is vibratory and harmonic—sound as vibration waves—in an infinite field of radiant energy—light as electromagnetic radiation in the form of particle waves.

All objects, including thoughts, are finite material mutable and vibratory, while Consciousness is formless limitless nonmaterial immutable and non-vibratory.

The infinitude is a dynamic play of conceived coexistent opposites that define each other in the relativity of time and multidimensional space.

Four-dimensional spacetime is too basic and simple a formula to use for deeper investigation and probing into the nature of the cosmos, but the exact number of extra dimensions is still in the process of deliberation.

Space, that was thought to be totally empty of atoms and molecules, contains a network of quantum energies that transmit information, called the Zero Point Field.

The infinitude is an endless thrust and stream of infinite variation—a vibrating multiplicity endlessly multiplying itself to Infinity, fundamentally unified and superficially diversified.

The infinitude is frequential harmonic vibratory *Cosmic Intelligence as endless energy ever in motion spinning rotating emitting endless baby universes in the form of circles bubbles most of which pop and infinitesimal one-dimensional superstrings vibrating in resonant frequencies that correspond with coordinate infinitesimal zero-dimensional point particles in harmonic unity and waves forces fields atoms molecules *matter chemicals elements planets suns moons minerals metals cells organisms and animals and humans and celestial beings and realms worlds stars galaxies universes structures systems dimensions in natural symmetry and balance harmony expansion contraction attraction repulsion appearing disappearing ever changing ever connected interconnected intermixed to the point that the infinitude is one totality with everything absolutely relative to the point of being canceled and a zero.

Maya—the Power of the One Power—is the Almighty Creator and Cosmic Intelligence in charge of the infinitude*.

The cosmos is in motion—spinning rotating and revolving—from atoms to solar systems to galaxies to universes*.

Atoms spin and revolve. Spin is what makes an atom an atom. Spin makes the world go 'round. Wheels turn on vehicles and in watches and factories and so on. Everything has spin and is in motion. Spin is fundamentally at the foundation of why everything is the way it is and works. That which holds all things together also drives them into motion and this fundamental spin to things allows energy to move freely throughout all bodies in the universe and in all systems. Fundamental force of momentum in the vacuum itself forces things to spin. The force of spin is embedded in all things.

There are several versions of superstring theory, but any superstring theory is an attempt to explain all the particles and fundamental forces of nature in one theory by modeling them as vibrations of super-symmetric strings. Superstrings are infinitesimal one-dimensional filaments of energy and universal intelligence—some hundred billion-billion times smaller than a single atomic nucleus—that are shaped like strings, maybe in the shape of loops, that vibrate at resonate frequencies in differing patterns, like a violin string. Each string has a unique resonance, harmonic, that produces particular point particle properties—different harmonics determine different fundamental particles. For instance, one string vibrating in a particular pattern will have the mass and electric charge of an electron and is what is traditionally called an electron, and another string vibrating in another particular pattern will have the requisite properties to be identified as a quark or a neutrino or a graviton or any other kind of particle. All species of particles are unified in superstring theory since each particle arises from a particular vibrational frequency or harmonic of a superstring.

Superstring theory proposes the fusion of general relativity and quantum mechanics and is mathematically sensible only if based on nine spatial-dimensions and one time-dimension.

There also is the more radical and robust M-theory that unifies the more consistent versions of superstring theory and requires ten space-dimensions and one time-dimension, a total of eleven spacetime-dimensions or eleven-dimensional supergravity. These dimensions are not discernable and may be so tightly crumpled that they are entirely invisible. This crumpling is called compactification, where the extra dimensions are assumed to close upon themselves to form circles. These extra dimensions explain some mysteries and show that those features of the cosmos that were thought to be readily assessable to the human senses need not be.

The fundamental objects of M-theory are not only superstrings but also branes and D-branes. A brane is a physical object that generalizes the concept of a point particle to higher dimensions. For example, a point particle can be viewed as a brane of dimension zero, while a superstring can be viewed as a brane of dimension one.

The quantity of observable matter in the universe is minute in ratio to empty space. For instance, atoms are 99.999999999% empty of matter, which proves the assumed solidity of the world to be a subjective experience and an illusion. In fact, matter does not have a universal definition nor is it a fundamental concept in current physics. The common definition of matter is that which has mass and volume and is a closed system occupying space—thus, light and massless particles and fields are part of matter.*

Everything is energy, while matter is energy vibrating at a lower speed in the form of moving particles or vibrations and waves. Matter exhibits both wave and particle properties—wave-particle duality. Matter is made of molecules and atoms that are made of sub-atomic particles. All particles, except photons, have mass and usually volume. Matter may disappear by conversion into energy and can also be created from energy; however, because mass like energy can neither be created or destroyed, the quantity of mass and the quantity of energy is the same.

There are various forms of matter: ordinary matter dark matter dark energy antimatter and exotic matter. Ordinary matter constitutes only 4% of the energy of the observable universe and the remaining energy is thought to be exotic forms of which 23% is dark matter and 73% is dark energy. Dark matter is matter of unknown composition that does not emit or reflect enough electromagnetic radiation, light, to be observed directly, but whose presence can be inferred from gravitational effects on visible matter. Antimatter is material composed of the antiparticles or partners of the corresponding particles of ordinary matter.

Symmetry underlies the laws of the universe. Symmetry is the basis of the balance and order and harmony in the cosmos.*

Just a word veils Oneness Truth.

A word is a single distinct meaningful element used in speech and writing.

A word is a snapshot idea or image.

Words and symbols and pictures spring from the human urge to communicate.

Speech is fundamentally survival oriented and a means of expression and demonstration.

Speech is a channel for Spirit.

Language philosophy idealism and law and order are the indicators of civilization.

All languages have evolved over time.

Words and concepts and images captivate and keep us captive in illusion.

Reality is beyond words and concepts.

Free of words concepts and images, one abides in the transcendent Bliss of Silence that is Oneness Truth.

Words are our lifeline—we live in and by way of words.

Words automatically divide—life based on words is divided.

Words spin tales.

Words contradict.

Words spur one on.

Words are always relative.

Words condition their user.

Words have a life of their own.

Words unite only superficially.

Words define us and return to us.

Words fly away and are ephemeral.

Words we speak affect us, and others.

Words that guide us to Silence free us.

Words are exercised in pun making and semantic jousting.

Words skate on the surface of things or dive deep for pearls of truth.

Words were first created and brought forth for the sake of simple communication for survival and alliance and control, but over time took on a life of their own so that we have become not only slaves to words but have lost our Silent Truth to them. We literally live immersed in a limited and limiting world of words.

With the passage of time, words have been used for more and more complex reasoning and conceptualizing in our primal search for knowledge and control, and also used to elaborate and entertain with more and more sophistication.

Pride and arrogance have impinged on words and polluted them, as well as the earth. Granted, words spoken from the heart are sincere and moving, and words achieve wondrous things and great good, but much of the good has been tightly entwined with pain and suffering. Words with every step forward in advancement have stepped on a multitude, and the earth has been plundered and polluted with words.

It is the overall wanting of wisdom compassion and common sense that leaves humanity and civilization still immature. Greed arrogance ignorance and such blind bind and are a bane.

Words have created walls as well as openings. Words have created artifice and an artificial world. Words may try to be natural but rarely are. We live off of words and stake our lives on them. Words have created as much confusion as order.

We are stimulated intoxicated hypnotized by words and so value and esteem them that some equate words with actual experience and most give words precedence over Silence. Yet in essence we are Silence but have forgotten the Truth of Silence in the maze of endless words. We have come to value the stimulation and excitement of words over the Peace and Oneness of Silence.

There is no Truth in words—words may state facts and truths but can only obscure transcendent Oneness Truth. Words may be pointers, like symbolic signs, but must be relegated to their respective place—ignorance in illusion. The origin of words is the mind, while Oneness Truth is ever timeless ever transcendent.

Words may come unbidden and spill, or spring from inspiration and fly high.

Words may stumble over each other or flow in streams of certainty.

Words may be desire driven or a fountain of love and care.

Words create sustain and destroy lives and the world.

Words are used to share—words are used to inform.

Words can create calm or calamity in an instant.

Words are tools or swords.

Words are messengers.

Words are magical.

Words hypnotize.

Words try.

Words may be directed with skill and wielded with artistry and finesse. Words may be dynamic and move one to laughter or tears, but no matter what words or where they come from or where they go, all words are relative and nothing in themselves and ultimately a zero. Words project only illusion even when they allude to Truth.

Words are like play toys in illusion.

Words are dreams.

Music is the universal language.

Music is defined as: the science or art of ordering tones or sounds in succession, in combination, and in temporal relationships to produce a composition having unity and continuity; vocal or instrumental or mechanical sounds having rhythm melody or harmony.

Music is an art form and cultural activity whose medium is sound organized in time.

Music is the natural spontaneous expression of Spirit in the cosmos and human heart.

Music of the cosmos is universal harmonic sound as tonal vibrations and frequencies.

Music is rhythm and a play of sounds that stimulates and moves the heart body mind.

Music is a fundamental function of the cosmos and an expression of life and living.

Music and sound and vibration are the basis of life in the world and cosmos.

Music is the heart of life and an important part of the daily life of most.

Music is a dynamic outpouring of life and love that is loved by all.

Music moves one to joy, even ecstatic transcendence.

Music stirs and enlivens and exalts and unites.

Music attracts and is a confirmation of life.

Music intoxicates.

Music moves one to hum whistle sing clap and dance.

Music moves one to follow it in absorption, even trance.

Music uplifts and rejuvenates and heals and inspires and enlightens.

Music is expression from the heart that alone speaks to and stirs the heart.

Music evokes and conveys impressions sensations feelings emotions images and ideas.

Music and singing and dancing are natural to all—all are drawn to and moved by music.

Music is a significant element in all cultures and the world and society at large and is spontaneous traditional ceremonial or an art form and so on, enjoyed in private or at organized events and public places and so on, while reclining walking running driving and so on—there is music to be heard and listened to everywhere in the world at any given moment. Music is integral to human life.

Silence is the eternal transcendental Music of Reality and the Voice of Oneness Truth.

Silence is the soundless Sound of Infinity and the One Source of the endless harmonic frequencies that comprise the music of the cosmos and the endless sounds that comprise nature and the world and the endless music that springs from the human spirit.

Music and sound exist against the backdrop of Silence that is the underlying One Reality.

Transcendent Silence is Oneness Perfection that infinitely surpasses the wonder of music. In Truth there is no comparison between Silence and music, for music is but an illusion and Silence is the One Reality.

Science is discovering and proving that our assumptions about the nature of the cosmos are wrong. For instance, it is proven that the cosmos is fundamentally unified and superficially diversified and one interconnected intermixed totality with everything absolutely relative to the point of being canceled and a zero. The cosmos is an illusion—the cosmos is a zero.

The Realized and mystics have declared over the ages that separation and relativity and spacetime and the universe and mind are all an illusion, that reality is Oneness—a statement now accepted by some scientists as fact. For instance, both quantum physics and molecular biology state that separation is an illusion and quantum physics proceeds further to state that spacetime and the universe are also an illusion. Physicists are coming up with theories based on mathematics and observation that not only confirms but surpasses in magnificence and extravagance what any mystic occultist or philosopher has ever stated or alluded to.

The mind based on dual subject-object relativity creates and projects subjective experience and divides the Oneness of the timeless Now into three aspects of time—past and present and future. But has any one moment of time ever been effectively and definitively measured? No. Currently there are various theories about what spacetime is, but the one certainty is that it is relative and illusory.

Time is not only an abstract mental construct, it is psychological and an individual subjective experience—for instance, there is no time in the higher realms. People live and schedule according to the movement of their watches and the movement of the earth in relation to the sun. The sense and use of time are in relation to things in motion, otherwise time is purely subjective or nonexistent.

The quantity of observable matter in the universe is minute in ratio to empty space—for instance, atoms are 99.999999999% empty of matter, which proves the assumed solidity of the world to be a subjective experience and an illusion. This fact is a basis for the possibility that other realms and worlds operating at different frequencies exist in the same space as ours, just as various differing television and radio signals coexist.

There is a hypothesis that parallel universes exist exactly like our own and that they all are connected. This notion is an attempt to explain why quanta behave erratically. It has been observed that subatomic particles or energy packets blink off and on, in and out of our reality. The question is where do they go when they are not here? Quantum physics suggests that when they are not in our reality they are in other parallel universes/realities that we are unable to sense or observe.

A paradigm for the fundamental unity of the universe has emerged in the study of infinitesimal zero-dimensional point particles / *quanta in quantum physics. A metaphor for this new view is the hologram that projects what we see as three-dimensional, as the brain also does. An important intrinsic property of holograms is that the information that is contained throughout is contained within each unit—each unit projects the whole. Some physicists consider the universe to be holographic, and certainly the holographic principle will continue to play an important role in research.

In the physics of creation every atom can be divided into smaller and smaller and smaller pieces, infinitesimally minute, called quanta.*

A hologram is a two-dimensional piece of etched plastic, which when illuminated with appropriate laser light projects a three-dimensional image. It has been suggested that the universe itself might operate in a manner analogous to a hologram. The comings and goings we observe in the three-dimensional world might be holographic projections of physical processes taking place on a distant two-dimensional surface—we and all we do and see is akin to holographic images.*

The brain automatically translates everything into three-dimensional physical/spatial experience, even though the cosmos has more than three dimensions. Spacetime is four-dimensional: three-dimensional spatial experience has three aspects—up/down left/right and forward/backward—and one dimension of time—later/earlier. And most likely there are more than four dimensions.

An observed phenomenon in quantum physics that supports the view of non-separation and unity is quantum entanglement-connectivity on a level that is nonlocal, where all point particles are interconnected and influence one another even across vast distances. It had seemed that point particles communicate faster than the speed of light, which led to the idea that they exist and are connected on a level or in a way where there is no location, thus no speed is necessary or involved.

Quantum entanglement-connectivity explains how paranormal phenomena operate and how it is that there is direct knowing, such as the reading of minds and clairvoyance clairaudience intuition insight and such.

Connectivity is not just a property or reality—it is the property and reality. Connectivity is constituent of the fabric of reality. There is experimental evidence, where random generators are influenced by intention and attention as observation and it also has been discovered that point particles can travel from one point to another without crossing the intervening space—quantum tunneling—thus, spacetime as distance and matter are an illusion and nonexistent.

Quantum tunneling may explain how teleportation works, which already is being experimentally demonstrated.

Molecular biology finds that all cells in the human body communicate on a nonlocal level and are thereby interconnected.

It is easy to observe that insects, such as ants, communicate on a nonlocal level. Communication on a nonlocal level exists for all as an actuality or potentiality. The vast majority of humans, though, because of assumed beliefs do not experience nonlocal communication. It is proven that individual human experience mirrors beliefs and determined focus.

There is evidence in various fields of science that we are made of all that the universe is made of and that everything in the cosmos is interconnected intermixed as one totality that is a dynamic unified order in balance.

Everything exists in an intimacy of connection. There is no separation—no two things are separate. We are all interconnected and part of the same fundamental geometry from particles to the entire cosmos and made of the same stuff—all the atoms and molecules that we are comprised of come from stardust / stars.

The paradigm of macrocosm and microcosm mutual reflection based on the interconnectedness and fundamental unity of the cosmos is well known. Science has taken a quantum leap in discovering and proving the fundamental oneness of all things, and the Internet has connected people and the world and is an unparalleled source of total information right at our fingertips.

Macrocosm microcosm is a paradigm that sees the same patterns reproduced on all levels of the cosmos, from the largest scale—macrocosm/universe—to the smallest scale—microcosm/point particles. In this system the midpoint is the human who is the epitome of and summarizes the cosmos.

Quantum mechanic physicists have discovered that observation impacts what is observed, which proves that the universe is not purely mechanical and operating apart from Consciousness and the mind. And quantum physics at the deepest levels evidences that Consciousness alone exists.

Some physicists propose that Consciousness is the Unified Field and the source and fabric of the cosmos and the ultimate reality that we are.

Relativity describes big things and quantum mechanics describes small things, while the Unified Field is intended to be that which unites the big things and the small things.

Oneness Consciousness is the Unified Field—the One Source Substratum Substance of everything and all that seems to be or exist. Consciousness is the underlying One Reality, while everything is an illusory superimposition. There is nothing apart from Consciousness.

Only discernment and direct enquiry into the nature of Consciousness and the mind and Self will reveal what is real and what is unreal.

Scientists will never find the source of the universe by indirect means, such as observation and mathematics. The structure and mechanics of the objective universe and all phenomena can be observed and gleaned, but never their source which is traceless Consciousness. Consciousness is formless limitless timeless immutable indivisible and transcendent and can never be observed or traced, for Consciousness is not an object or objective and has no source.

The universe sprang from a zero-dimension point that is infinitesimally finite, but that is as far as it can be traced and comprehended.

Nothing happens in the world unless Consciousness observes it—Consciousness is the timeless One Witness Seer that makes everything and all that seems to be or exist evident and possible.

Consciousness—the One Reality and basis of illusion—alone ever Is.

Religion is defined as: an organized system of beliefs precepts rules ceremonies and rituals used to venerate and worship God or a god or a Perfect personage; a belief faith interest or activity of paramount importance to an individual or a group. A religion may have a following of one or billions.

A religion or spiritual movement is an organized response to an Avatar or a Realized Master or a spiritual Adept. It is physical manifestations of Oneness Grace that are the heart of religions and spiritual movements, yet all are in the illusory realm of Maya.

A spiritual movement most often originates from a religion, like Sufism springs from Islam and is the heart of Islam.

The word spiritual comes from Spirit which is the Power and Manifestation of the One.

Religions and spiritual movements are organizations with a tier or hierarchy of authority and power, created in veneration and devotion to a revered Perfect personage or a spiritual Adept, whose illumined words teachings and example are distorted to some degree by the ego minds of the followers and faithful. All ideally are aligned with and devoted to the Truth and Love exemplified by the Perfect personage or spiritual Adept, demonstrated by way of praise observance service and so on.

All religions and spiritual movements are potential vehicles of and pathways to Oneness Truth and are sustained by Oneness Grace for those who seek or love Truth.

Spirituality is the essence and heart the inner dimension and Spirit of a religion which is its outer form and expression. Only when spirituality is strong does religion have depth and genuine meaning in alignment with Oneness Truth and Perfection.

Religion without spirituality is mechanical and empty—spirituality does not need a religion, while religion needs spirituality to flourish.

Religion without the living waters of Spirit—spirituality—is like a dry husk and becomes a struggle that is dominated by the egocentric mind, while spirituality is the way of the Heart that alone transcends the ego mind and all ignorance and illusion.

The heart of every religion is mystical and transcendental, but few go to the heart of their religion. The heart of a religion is sacred and a gift from Oneness Grace.

Without strong spirituality one is absorbed by and lost in the illusory world of the ego mind and thus conflicted and confused and without conscience.

All religious organizations and spiritual movements are influenced by the times in which they originate and throughout the changing times and are thereby flawed; but the Power of Oneness Grace and Truth is the Light of a religion or spiritual movement and inestimable. From time to time a spiritual being will purify or rejuvenate a religion or spiritual movement, but since all organized religions and spiritual movements are from the start in the sphere of time and the ego mind this is never enduring.

No Perfect personage has ever transformed the world or attempted to do so. A perfect personage is a manifestation of Oneness Grace and Truth and lives for those who long for Oneness and Freedom and to give an overall push to humanity toward Oneness Truth.

The world is ever changing on the surface but deeply entrenched in its worldliness. There is always an incline that eventually declines and a dark age that follows a golden age. The world is ever spinning spiraling circles and cycles in illusion and is a zero and nothing.

The language precepts and context of religions, sometimes originating far in the past, can easily be misinterpreted and misunderstood as the subtle meaning of words changes with time and translators and scholars are fallible and flawed. But it is from the Heart that one must listen to any sacred scripture or exposition of truth.

A life based on words is divided, while Oneness Truth alone is in Silence.

Many of the precepts of religions are shared and universal and have kept the world somewhat in-line.

Because of the differing cultural context of each religion there is no religion that is universal, but there are those who embrace Oneness Truth in all religions—the simple Truth of Oneness and Love alone is universal.

Oneness Truth transcendent of the ego mind and world alone is universal.

Many are drawn or resort to religion for succor faith or salvation and some are simply deeply drawn to the truth and peace and beauty a religion offers.

Most are born into a religion and from an early age are conditioned to believe that they are Buddhist Christian Muslim and so on, and their religion is their life-long identity and faith.

Hypocrisy is rampant everywhere, especially in religion, and there is current and past religious persecution and condemnation in the world and also punishment and execution.

Religion is often closely connected and even entwined with politics power and money—many religions have been heavily touched by worldliness and cruelty, thus many turn away from religion and false dogma.

There is often the single-minded belief that a specific religion alone is true and must be spread for the good of all and the world. There are religious organizations and individuals with a mission in the world and there are those who purely disseminate for the good of seekers and the faithful.

It is differentiation and discrimination combined with intolerance that creates conflict and activates fanaticism and fascism. Ignorance and arrogance move many to vehemence, even hatred, antithetical to their ideals. It is the assumption of superiority along with the urge to control others and the world that flies banners and drives opposition missions and terrorism, that in turn attracts resentment and retribution—all action and reaction in the sphere of the imperious ego.

Religions and spiritual movements are the principle most powerful dynamic that drives and elevates humanity, and there are as many paths and ways to Oneness Truth as there are beings—each path or way uniquely suited to each.

Oneness Truth alone is universal and not the property of any specific entity.

Oneness Truth belongs to no specific religion nation race gender and so on.

Oneness Truth is transcendent of all religions and spiritual movements.

Oneness Truth is beyond the reach of the senses and ego mind.

Oneness Truth is direct Experience in absolute Silence.

All religions and spiritual movements are the potential ground of Grace that is the Power and Manifestation of the One.

All religions and spiritual movements vanish in the Silence of Oneness Truth.

Everything and all that seems to be or exist vanishes in the absolute Silence

Pleasure has countless slaves.

Pleasure has countless guises.

There are pleasures of every sort that invite and court us and there is even pleasure in pain for some.

Pleasure keeps us satisfied and oblivious of our conditioned and limited existence in a world that is in perpetual conflict confusion and misery.

Pleasure holds us in a pleased stupor in its familiar embrace.

Pleasure is a form of lust and for many a life-long addiction.

Pleasure is a magnet that attracts and holds us captive and entrenched in ignorance and illusion.

Pain is the shadow of pleasure.

Pleasure and pain are coexistent opposites and forever entwined in countless ways.

Pleasure is the habitual aim in all things and often the goal of life, but with pleasure comes pain.

Pleasure is a release that in time rebounds as pain.

Pleasure is associated with and dependent on objects / objectives and with the loss of an object of pleasure comes pain.

We are open in great pleasure and so we seek pleasure all the more in spite of the pain that haunts pleasure.

In pleasure there is pain, but most avoid reflection on this truth, for pleasure is an escape from pain.

Pain and pleasure are an identity-source and directly or indirectly self-created.

The ego feeds on both pleasure and pain and thereby flourishes.

Many are attached even addicted to pain since the ego feeds off the energy of pain.

Necessity keeps most working hard in the world, striving and often struggling, and pleasure is the aim and reward for all the effort and pain involved.

At some point pain wakes us up from the superficiality of pleasure to things as they really are, demanding investigation into the truth of the matter, at times evoking detachment from pleasure.

Pain may call or cry for investigation detachment compassion and renunciation.

Some revere pain as dynamic experience that atones purifies strengthens and liberates.

Pleasure and pain spring from ignorance in illusion, and attachment to pleasure or pain keeps us immersed and lost in illusion.

Possessions possess.

We are owned by what we own—we are possessed by our possessions.

Possessiveness and possessions are both pleasure and pain.

To possess and be possessive is based on control lust attachment and dependency.

Materialism and ambition in the form of greed and lust seek to possess and control.

The urge to possess is a strong force and contraction that is painful and debilitating.

The I-me-mine ego is driven to possess and control, and as the possessor and controller is possessed and controlled by its possessions.

Life as a norm is about security status and satisfaction derived from possessions, whether objects people animals or achievements and so on.

Possessions define self-image and worthiness.

Possessiveness is a form of violence that violates the spirit of the possessed, and the irony is that those who are possessive are absolutely possessed by delusion.

Possessiveness springs from ignorance of Oneness.

Compassion is our natural state.

Compassion is deep sympathy in the form of empathy and heartfelt care for those who suffer and is the natural urge to alleviate suffering.

Compassion is not pity, which is a mere superficial sentiment.

Compassion springs from the knowledge that there is only One.

Compassion for all springs from the knowledge that there is no free will and that all act in ignorance in illusion.

Compassion springs from the knowledge that all is programmed and predetermined.

Compassion and mercy are coexistent.

Compassion is willing to sacrifice for another.

Compassion is aligned with Oneness Love and Peace.

Compassion is innate and universal, though obscured by ignorance.

Compassion is the finest quality of humankind.

Compassion is consciously resorted to instead of negativity.

Compassion for all life and the world springs from the eternal One Heart.

Blessed are the compassionate and those benefitted.

Courage and bravery coexist with integrity.

Courage and bravery based on the inclination to serve care and love is selfless.

Courage and bravery are a light in the world and beautiful.

Acts of courage and bravery are highly respected revered and admired by all.

Courage and bravery overcome and transmute fear and weakness.

Courage and bravery are Spirit defying death and the limits of the body and mind.

Courage and bravery at times are transcendent, rising above and superseding those forces that limit and oppose.

Courage and bravery are strong and noble in spirit and action, and especially so when humble.

It is humility when the ego does not assert itself as the proud owner of courage and bravery and project itself as superior for self-glory.

Courage and bravery are essentially aligned with compassion and mercy.

Courage and bravery take various forms, such as sacrifice and dedication in action.

Courage braves the world and is honest and forthcoming.

Some are naturally courageous and brave, and this quality will naturally assert itself no matter what and where. Whatever sphere the courageous and brave work and live in this strength will automatically spring forth.

Courage and bravery are a gift and blessing and in conjunction with humility can easily lead to Realization and Liberation.

The supreme act of courage and bravery is to turn from the world to abandon the ego mind and fully surrender to/as Oneness in transcendent Freedom Here and Now.

Real courage embraces Oneness Truth

the simplicity of abandonment

In the play of life in illusion, humor and laughter are invaluable and healing and treasured by all. Humor and laughter bring instantaneous release and balance, expansive lightness and delight. Humor and laughter free one for a time from the heaviness and burden of the ego and the nonsense and absurdities of life in the world, as does a happy baby in its purity innocence openness and joy. A baby is pure Being and in a state of Oneness and wonder and the human heart is in awe of and delights in all fresh tender new life. A baby opens the heart and brings profound love and joy.

The void is a mental space devoid of objects and time.

The void is an empty mental space that is the abstract form of formless zero and but an illusion.

The void is subtle minimal experience that vibrates and thus is objective.

The void is akin to a blank mind or mental absence but is not the still mind / no mind that is the absolute Silence of Oneness.

It is the mind that creates and projects phenomena and finds a void when there are no objects of perception, yet the void too is a creation and projection of the mind.

Consciousness is the One Witness Seer of the void.

Consciousness is Oneness transcendent of the void and all paradox.

Consciousness makes experience and the void evident and possible.

The One Light of Consciousness Illumines all experience and the void.

The void floats in Consciousness and is an illusory superimposition on Consciousness.

The void appears and disappears in Consciousness and is an obscure reflection of the Emptiness of Oneness.

The world subsides in the void and the void dissolves in Consciousness—Consciousness alone ever Is.

Consciousness is the absolute Bliss of Oneness Perfection, while the void is an empty mental space that is but an illusion and a zero and nothing.

First one sees the One as objects and then one sees the One as a void and lastly one Sees and Knows the One as the transcendent Self that ever Is Here in the timeless Now.
